STONY BROOK DAY: (submitted by Hanne)

Stony Brook Day 2008 was a huge success with 1000 people attending. Twenty-two buses departed predawn Tuesday and arrived four hours later in grey, rainy Albany. The conference center was filled with enthusiasm as students, staff and team leaders readied for a busy day of legislative appointments (generally four appointments per team). Although Stony Brook Albany Day is a long and tiring event, it is a positive experience for all who attend. Meeting with State governmental officials and expressing your concerns for higher education and the state of the State is a very unique opportunity.
