

Klingons Cause Blackout, Take Over Polity

BY TOMAS DAMASSI,

The Federation of Planets declared war on the Klingon Empire after a band of Klingon rebels attacked Federation installations near the Indoor Sports Complex early Sunday morning.

Half the campus was left in darkness after the attack in which two squadrons of Klingon warbirds sprayed the campus with photon torpedoes, causing an electrical failure and knocking out power indefinitely.

They also blew-out a steam pipe.

"They were trying to stop the Federation-endorsed I-CON," said Admiral Guy LeFleur, another balding French guy the Federation has in charge of something. "But, by Shatner's toupee, we got the butt-ugly bastards."

Walter Koenig, a spokesman for the Federation, said at a news conference last night that a special team of engineers is being beamed down to help get electricity back to the Stony Brook campus.

Koenig said the team is to be headed by DeForrest Kelly.

Kelly, however, was less than enthusiastic.

"Dammit, man," Kelly yelled at Koenig during the news conference, "I'm just a doctor."

In a bizarre twist of events, I-CON members of the nefarious Klingon Empire went berserk yesterday and seized the Student Union. The invaders proceeded directly to the Polity offices and battered innocent victims with hardcover copies of Dungeons and Dragons rulebooks, swearing personal hygiene, and being generally unattractive about the whole thing.

Strangely enough, they got along real well with members of The Stony Brook Press.

The leader of this unsavory crew was named K'Zaarggg, which, in Klingon, translates into "I need a girlfriend really, really bad!" Together, with 20 other misguided Star Trek fans dressed in cardboard armor and plastic headgear, these fierce warriors shook the entire academic foundation, infiltrating Polity and Federation spokesman Walter Koenig is also rumored to like Ed McMahon's ass. However, he could not speculate when power would be restored.

revising the university courses into things like "How to Pick Up Girls with Less than Ten Hit Points" and "Klingon Cleavage Made Easy."

The Klingons quickly made calls to Domino's Pizza after seizing Polity funds, but the delivery car still hasn't shown up yet. "He's in the Quad," became Domino's generic answer to every inquiry. Polity members offered little resistance to this ravaging of student dollars, since most of them really didn't give a rat's ass even before the Klingon invasion.

Apparently, the Klingons had been unhappy about having their headquarters inside the Indoor Sports Complex, it being a rather unfamiliar environment to them. I-CON supervisors were notified of this unexpected attack and subsequently ordered the Jedi Knights to crush the Klingons, which seemed like a great idea until everyone realized that Jedi Knights don't exist.

Eventually, University Police sprang into action and set their phasers to "get a real life," effectively neutralizing the insurrection. The Klingons were then slapped on the wrist and told to play nice for the remainder of the convention.

Kenny Jailed, Letterman in Charge

BY TOMAS DAMASSI
Statesmyn Don

Dr. Shirley Strum Kenny was arrested and jailed Saturday said Suffolk County Sixth Precinct Police.

According to Officer Johnny J. Johnson, Kenny was found in Selden, sitting on the stoop in front of a neighborhood brothel. The name of the brothel has been withheld to protect its good name. Kenny was taken to Riverhead where she was charged with mopey and jailed.

"It is NOT a glorious, glorious day," drawled Kenny in a phone interview from her cell. "Oh, look. $1,000 bail bond."

According to Johnson, Kenny was also charged with resisting arrest and assaulting an officer. At the scene, two officers held Kenny at bay while reinforcements were responding to an "officer down" call.

"Unfortunately, no officer was down when we got there," said Officer Tommy T. Thomas, who was among the first reinforcements to arrive. "There's a real good chance that, if there was, we would have gotten to shoot someone."

When the reinforcements arrived, it took five officers to subdue Kenny, said Johnson. "She tossed Thompson aside like he was a ragdoll," he said.

Kenny claims that she is innocent of all charges and that she's been set up.

Incarcerated University President

"These charges have been trumped up by that prick in Albany," Kenny said. When asked to clarify who "that prick" is, Kenny said, "The governor, you moron."

"If we were back in Texas,

I'd have his liberal ass in a sling."

In a surprise move, SUNY Chancellor Thomas Bartlett appointed CBS "Late Show" host David Letterman to serve as a temporary replacement during

Soon-to-be former Polity
Attorney Leonard Shapiro

Kenny's absence.

"He's the big cheese for now," said Bartlett.

Letterman was immediately besieged by reporters, Polity Council members and half of O.J. Simpson's defense team who wanted to know how he would handle the current budget crisis.

"Budget, smudget," Letterman said with a wave of his hand. "Let them eat cake!"

Letterman later retracted the statement and said that he had Calvert DeForrest "slaving like a bastard" on the matter. He also said that he hired Paul Shaffer as his assistant, replacing Kenny's assistant, George Meyers, whom Letterman said "walks around with that stupid grin like he has a stick shoved up his ass."

Letterman pumped his fist while CBS Orchestra drummer Anton Figg played a drumroll.

Meanwhile, back in jail, Kenny said that at least Albany didn't replace her with Jay Leno.

"I like that thing Dave does with his tie," she said with a chuckle. "But if he so much as touches my yellow rose coffee mug, I'll break his fingers."

Letterman seemed to little know - or care - who he was replacing.

"Kennedy?" Letterman asked, one eyebrow crooked. "Didn't Oswald shoot him?"

Besides dealing with the budget,

- COCA double-feature film, focusing on special campus housing issues: "Debbie Does Dewey," and "Kelly does Kelly." Showings at 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, and midnight. Please, no more water pistols loaded with skin care lotion.

SATURDAY

- The Golden Ego Honor Society will be holding a ceremony for its new inductees, uplifting them to that goody-good, moral high ground that they alone apparently inhabit. Staller Center 3:00 PM.

[The word "blank" could not even describe what has happened here.]

- COCA double-feature film, showcasing two horror classics: "It Came from Kelly Cafe" and "The English Major Who Wouldn't Shut Up!" Showings at 9:30 PM and midnight.

Disclaimer: This is our annual April Fools' issue. Everything, except advertising, is fictional. It is intended to be fun, satirical, ironic, comic, and all combinations. Please do not get all in a huff. We work hard all year and this is the only fun we get to have. We hope have as much enjoyment reading it as we had writing and putting it together.

COLONEL OLLIE NORTH has been named Chief Advisor to Polity Executive Director Steven Adams, Polity officials said yesterday.

Sources in Polity say that Adams hopes that North can teach him the finer arts of lying and paper shredding before anybody asks any more questions about NIA entertainment.

NYPIRG ANNOUNCED MONDAY that it has received a federal grant to study the effects of animal flatulence on the ozone layer.

To accomplish this, NYPIRG has recruited disturbed Biology majors to feed baby squirrels about 50 Burger King onion rings, stick needles into their eyes, tickle their feet and burn their tails off, all the while sniffing for any type of odor other than burning fur.

Said Colleen A. O'Mara, NYPIRG Project Coordinator, "It's about time those little buggers got what they deserved."

THE EQUAL OPPORTUNITY PROGRAM (EOP) has been renamed because campus officials said that the name doesn't reflect the true mission of the program.

"We felt that the acronym E-O-P didn't tell the campus community exactly what the program does," said Dr. Howard Miller, director of the formerly-named EOP. "Now, we hope that's all cleared up."

The new name for EOP is Graduate and Undergraduate Money for the Poor and Stupid, or, more appropriately, GUMPS.

THE PEACE CENTER in the Old Chemistry Building was abolished yesterday, officials said, apparently because it served no purpose.

THE CENTER FOR WOMYN'S CONCERNS, the Lesbian, Gay, and Bisexual Alliance, the African-American Student Organization and Hillel Foundation sponsored a forum last night in the Student Union entitled, "The Forum to Address Any Perceived Wrongs That We Just Didn't Get Around to Addressing in the Past."

Speakers included Gloria Steinem, Snoop Doggy Dogg and k.d. lang. The event ended early when D.J. Smooth "C" played the Fat Boys' version of the Beach Boys' "Wipeout," and Snoop whipped out an illegal .38 and blew away the speakers.

ANNETTE HICKS, POLITY VICE PRESIDENT, has been missing for the past four days, University Police said.

Reports indicate that Hicks was last seen in the book stacks in the Melville Library. University Police ask that anyone with information call 1-800-GET-A-CLUE.

AT WEDNESDAY'S POLITY SENATE MEETING, Senator John Guiffo announced that he would be running for Polity President in the upcoming elections.

"I want all students to know that if I am elected Polity President, I will continue the long legacy of doing absolutely nothing for the students. I will demand one free soda from the Union Deli every hour, I will demand free meals at EOB every day and I will demand to have two chauffeurs, just like old Shirl," Guiffo said. "After all, what's politics without PERKS?"

THE FRATERNITY TKE has changed its name to BUD. The fraternity refused to comment.

NORMALLY, CATS HAVE NINE LIVES. But not at Deng Lee's.

Undercover Statesmyn reporters have discovered that General Tso's chicken is not chicken at all, but deep-fried kitten in a tangy sauce.

Students in Roth Quad said that they heard strange meowing sounds night after night coming from Deng Lee's, prompting Statesmyn's investigation.

A spokesman for Deng Lee's said that kitten has never been used to make General Tso's chicken; it is only used for flavoring in the won ton soup.

TENSIONS ARE HEATING UP between Computer Science majors and Philosophy majors, the University Police announced yesterday.

Tempers flared on both sides last night after a forum entitled "Existentialism and Your Macintosh," wherein the Computer Science majors insisted that the Mac was user-friendly, while the Philosophy majors said that the Mac just doesn't care.

University Police were called in after a number of students were hit by thrown sandals and flying diskettes.

Six students were referred to Student Judiciary for disciplinary action; seven others were referred to Fred Preston for a spanking.

POLITY SENATOR RICK RESNICK announced Sunday that he is recommending to Polity that Jesse Jackson be named new University President instead of David Letterman.

"I just loved it when Jesse did Saturday Night Live," Resnick said. "Besides, with former University president Colleen Skadl in jail, we need powerful leadership for the students. And who better than former Yankee and Mr. October himself?"

Resnick also said he hopes to have a candy bar named after himself someday.

3TV OFFICIALS said in a news conference Friday that they are ditching their programming of boring Polity Senate meetings and pseudo-hip-college-oriented-MTV-rip-offs in order to attract more student viewers.

"We want to appeal to as many students as we can," said Felix Fermin, general manager of the student-run TV station. "The students have spoken and we have heard."

The station's new schedule will feature hooter movies, new episodes of "Finder of Lost Loves" and anything with Erik Estrada in it, played on 24-hour blocks Monday thru Friday. The weekend will feature 48 straight hours of reruns of "Welcome Back, Kotter," "Barney Miller," "What's Happening?!" and "Chico and the Man."

IN ITS CONTINUING TRADITION OF WANTON REVISIONISM, the Department of Theatre Arts has announced its plans to create a song and dance extravaganza based on the life of Mother Theresa.

Called "Calcutta Follies, or, Everything You Wanted to Know About Nuns, But Were Afraid to Ask" the musical takes one thru the life and times of Mother Theresa, selfless missionary. From her childhood days when she allowed the older boys to look at her breasts in exchange for candy, to her vaguely remembered coked-out convent years, to the present, where she ministers to the sick, the hungry and the sexually deviant.

"We wanted to explore the darker side of Mommy T," said a black-garbed long-haired theatre major who refused to identify himself. "We wanted to make her contemporary."

Tickets are on sale at the Staller Box Office; performance is scheduled for Easter Sunday. †

Letterman said that other items on his priority list are daily Top Ten lists, stupid faculty tricks, and free, convenient parking for students.

"Boy, do I have a boot for Herb Petty," Letterman said.

Early reaction from students has been favorable.

"At least we didn't end up with Conan O'Brien," said Jen Ital, 22, a social sciences senior. "He's about as funny as Ed McMahon's ass."

Gus Troitestinel agreed. "Letterman rules. I don't like Ed McMahon's ass, either."

Doug Little, who generally comments about everything that happens on campus said, "I kind of like Ed's ass. Anyway, it's a damn shame about Dr. Kenny. But, the law's the law and this community belongs to all of us."

"Besides, it looks like chaos will rule for awhile and we might finally get to shoot someone."

But, whatever the students think, Letterman has his work cut out for him. Still, he's taking it all in stride.

"So how many chauffeurs do I get anyway?" he asked. "Someone get me Ed McMahon's ass on a platter." ☺

The Brook: Nothin' Could Be Betta

USB RULES!

STONY BROOK'S THE BEST!

THIS IS THE BEST SCHOOL ON EARTH!

How many times have you heard the above refrains on campus? Well, if you are dead, chances are you haven't heard them at all. However, if you are so fortunate as to exist among the living, you hear these things all the time.

There is no place on earth with such pride and happiness as the University of New York at Stony Brook! The students here are so in love with this school that they all choose to stay for years and years and years and spread laughter and mirth to the entire community. Joy - Stony Brook students are full of it!

Being a student at USB is by far the greatest experience anyone and everyone can have. Every good pupil deserves to have a chance at a high-quality student life at the University of New York at Stony Brook! The students' morale is at an all-time high. There are so many things to do inside and outside of class. Weekends are especially nice here. The responsible workers on campus get things done in a friendly and timely manner. The life here overall is just incredible!

The students at Stony Brook are dedicated to taking everything in that they possibly can on campus. Never will you see an unhappy student sulking in his suite complaining that there is nothing to do. With the 7-11 and the Smithhaven mall, everyone's needs are satisfied. As an added bonus, concerts galore pack this campus. It is only a matter of hours before another one of your favorites is supplied to you by SAB!

In terms of socializing, no place is better than Stony Brook. There is never a dull moment on this campus! Everyone in the suites knows that that is the place to be to pick up members of the opposite sex. Everyone is just running around Kelly and Tabler Quads waiting to get some, give some, or watch some - just to have some! And with the commuters hanging around all day every day and especially on weekends, there's twice as much to do!

Additionally, the students are so lively on campus. Most students can usually be found running to and from the library, diligently studying. However, their lives don't end there. A Stony Brook student lives all over campus!

Just about all of Stony Brook's students are part of some type of organization. Students here care about themselves and their school so much that they are willing to put forth an extra effort - to give a piece of themselves to help improve the lives of their fellow students!

For instance, people crowd into the Polity senate meetings every week. Some people can't seem to get enough of Rick Resnick, Dave Shashoua, and Vinny Bruzzese.

No one can get enough of the Statesmyn - we have people lining up outside our offices and down the hallway, waiting for a chance to join our organization. The same can be said for USB's student-run network, 3TV! When its cold outside and the wind is blowing, everyone knows the best thing to do is get some friends, find a room, and watch Vinny Bruzzese in action!

Many students here are involved in Polity, our student government, in some manner. Every year, LEG attendance records are broken. Last week, 300 students showed up to a LEG meeting in Baruch, although only 200 live in the building! And if students are aware of problems on campus, they report them immediately, if not sooner. They don't sit idly by and complain. They get right to the heart of the matter!

The students aren't the only positive aspect of Stony Brook. The teachers, as a whole, are a joy to learn from! They care about every student as if he or she were the only one. Never will you be treated like a number by an instructor! If you aren't satisfied with a grade, your teacher will be taken out and beat down while you point at them and laugh.

Plus, the classes here are so accessible. Students never have a hard time getting fulfilling DEC requirements with the incredible technological breakthrough that is the phone-in system! It satisfies every student's needs fully. No more waiting in long lines at Administration - not that that is so bad. After all, the competent workers there are helpful, knowledgeable and friendly to boot!

Then there's the food. Have you ever tasted finer cuisine? We at the Statesmyn believe not! Dung Lee's provides us with mouth-watering tofu and bright red pork! The bread at the Sob Shop is fresh and soft as a baby's butt! And Charging Schemes has delectable jerked...meat! And that's not all! Kelly and H always have such a wide variety of fine dishes. Never would you have settle for the salad bar! Hot dogs with sauerkraut and mustard! Veal! Yum!

Yes, life at USB is a dream...and you, the students, are living it! Go home and thank your parents for sending you thousands of miles to this school. It might have been a little expensive (This certainly ain't no two-bit cheap-ass school that was an hour away, now was it?), but isn't a quality education worth it?

Would you not pay $1,800 more for it? Don't you think those piddly few USB students wasted their time getting up early and trucking it all the way to Albany to protest the budget?

Of course! This is the State University of New York at Stony Brook. USB RULES! Anyone who isn't currently aware of that fact, should be.

New Shashoua Reader Agrees Lay Off Parking! Fan Club Starts With Statesmyn Policy on Iguanas

Dear Don:

I would like to alert everyone on campus that a new club to honor our beloved Dave Soshua has been formed. Due to popular demand, this fan club was started to fulfill the needs of those who can't get enough of Super Dave.

This club will devote all of its resources to try to make sure that he gets all the attention he deserves. All of its members will have the opportunity to actually stand in the presence of this godly figure. We will be devoting all our time to fill the needs and I mean every single one of them in order to ensure he has a smile on his face 24 hours a day.

If you're lucky he might actually stand close enough to spit right on your face.

You'll be able to revel in his heavenly phlegm for days. All new members are welcome. Also, upon joining, you'll have your very own poster size picture of the king. Hurry, they are sure to go fast.

If anyone has any questions concerning the "I Love Dave" club, please contact me at 2-4538.

Sincerely,
Nicole Rosner

P.S. - Davie, call me ANYTIME at 2-HOT4-U!

I'll be waiting...
...with a spittoon.

Godfather:

I fully agree with the stance The Stony Brook Statesmyn has taken on the 12-toed, yellow-spotted, furry iguana. We should exterminate the remaining few hundred of the creatures. Not only do they provide no benefit to the planet, but they are the ugliest goddam little organisms I've ever seen.

How many little children and shrunken elderly people have to be eaten before we put a stop to them? This problem was once restricted to albinos, people whose names start with "Q" and lawyers, so no one paid much attention. The critters just don't discriminate anymore.

Oh, no! Look out! One of them has my leg! Help! Help! It has me! It'll tear me apart!

In the name of the living, loving Jesus Christ, HELP MEEEEEE!

Oh. Wait. Sorry. It was just my cat, Torquematta.

Anyway, I support your efforts to erase this scourge from the earth.

Sincerely,
Sir Peter Lettermanforthonson

P.S. - Why did I write down all that stuff when my cat attacked me?

Oh, no! He has me, again!
ARRRRRRGH...

To the Editor:

Why are you always picking on Parking and Transportation. We're people, too. Just because we have sorry-ass jobs that serve no purpose but to pay our own bills. Just because we aren't qualified to do much of anything else, except maybe bake doughnuts or something.

Hey, it isn't our fault that the University wasn't built properly with an obvious lack of convenient parking close to the academic buildings.

And just because you're screwed to the wall, why shouldn't non-skilled laborers capatilize on your pathetic misfortune?

And why shouldn't I take the job? I get a great parking space at the office. I get a state car to drive around (at your expense, of course). I even have the power of making you needlessly suffer.

Personally, I could give a flying f#@k that you "need" better parking because what you do is much more important than what I do. And to be honest, I enjoy misticketing people who are parked legally.

Hey, if I'm to goddam lazy to look for you sticker, that's your problem. You waste your time appealing it, which you probably won't, because you're WAY too busy.

I guess what I'm trying to say is "We are the dregs of society, and we're lovin' every minute of it!"

Not Sincerely At All,
The Parking People

Don't send us letters and opinions unless you agree with us. In case you haven't noticed, we print ONLY letters that state the same views that we have.

All submissions must include the author's name, address and phone number. If the author is a woman, please include measurements and cup size, along with any photos you have of yourself wearing lace lingerie and pumps (color photos, red pumps).

If someone has taken The Ugly Stick to you a couple of times, don't bother sending anything.

Men, don't write to us. We have no interest in anything you have to say, and for the love of God don't send photos, unless they're of your wife or girlfriend.

Don't bother typing anything since we probably won't read it anyway.

Statesmyn reserves the right to do whatever we damn-well please with all submissions.

Views expressed in the letters and opinions section are those of anyone (we make up most of this crap) and not necessarily those of Statesmyn, its editorial board, staff, advertisers, families, friends, enemies, acquaintances, relations, employers, employees, pets, owners, mechanics, lovers, sex slaves, whipping boys, livestock, biographers, or parole officers. They may, however, be the opinions of their instructors, dictators, dieties, graven gods, and/or military superiors.

The Ziploc Fingerman has virtually nothing to do with anything of relevance, past or present.

Caught in the Act!

Student judiciary chair and well-known philanderer Vinny Bruzzese (Venereal Bru-zees) makes moves on Sophomore Rep. Nicole Rosner. Alas for Vincent (check out the part in his hair!) Rosner has goo-goo eyes only for Dave Shashoua, Polity Senate secretary, as seen in letter above. Oh, don't worry, Vin. We won't tell Marie, your fiancée.

Ann Marie, Told You We'd Save It for the April Fools' Issue!

Disclaimer (in case you missed the first one): This is our annual April Fools issue. Everything, except advertising, is fictional. It is intended to be fun, satirical, ironic, comic, and all combinations. Please do not get all in a huff. We work hard all year and this is the only fun we get to have. Madonna: Not Like a Virgin, The Tribute Album

It has been in the works for over eight months now. But it's finally here, and it has been well worth the wait. Led Zeppelin has one, KISS has one, and now the Queen of Pop has one; the Madonna Tribute album. Ten classic tributes by some of today's hottest musical acts. Track by track, this one is a sizzler!!

The album starts off with "Holiday," performed by The Offspring. They keep with the basic sound of the original recording, but add their share of spice to the mix. Lead singer, Dexter Holland says of the sexy pop star: "Without Madonna breaking down the barriers, our music could have never been possible. It's an honor to do one of my favorite songs by one of my favorite artists."

The second track, is the classic "Borderline," performed by W. Axl Rose and Eddie Vedder. "We have been looking to do a project together for a long time," said Vedder. "Once we heard about this album - we knew this was going to be the one," Vedder added. "Borderline was the essential ballad of the early eighties, without it, November Rain would never have been conceived," said Rose.

Green Day, does a stellar version of "Express Yourself," on the album. Lead vocalist, Billy Jo explained, "We didn't want to shy too far away from the original sound. I had hoped Madonna herself, would have performed it with us, but she is just so busy - God Bless Her. We also did "Talk Dirty To Me," for the upcoming Poison Tribute album coming out this summer.

One of the real highlights of the disc are Ice-Cube and Dr. Dre performing the campy, "True Blue." You'll never want to hear the original again, after you hear this mix. "We wanted to let the world know that we can slow things down a little. With Tupac's album debuting at #1, we knew we had to change our direction a little bit," said Dre. Cube added, "Me and Dre's album next summer, is going to be a lot like this song. I cry every our music."

There's a great cover of "La Isla Bonita," by Tom Petty and Tori Amos. "It was me and Tori's wedding song," said Petty. Amos added, "We did it so our children could one day understand the love their parents felt."

Slayer throws their hat into the ring with their version of, "Open Your Heart." Guitarist Kerry King told the Statesman, "Hey, we are not embarrassed. I have all of Madonna's records, even that one that bombed a few years ago. Her music is just as influential on the thrash scene as Cinderella and Winger."

Hole's, Courtney Love does an inspiring version of "Like A Virgin." Hole cited Madonna as a big influence: "Once I saw her bleach her hair, right then, I knew I could too."

Last but definitely not least is Jon Bon Phony and Richie Sambora's acoustical version of "Crazy For You." When asked about why the rest of the band didn't play on the song, Bon Phony said, "Let's cut the crap. You and I both know those guys can't play for sh*t. Me and Richie are the pretty faces...uh, I mean talent in the band." Sambora added, "We did an unplugged version because we like to take risks and try something new."

Well, there you have the low-down on the album. Run to the record stores now because with the first 2,500 copies sold, you receive a container of NIX Shampoo for lice.

THE FINAL GRADE: A++

The Last Rites By Dick Nagina

time I listen to it."

Long waiting Metallica fans will have a little bone to nibble on before their next album. They cover Madonna's. "Lucky Star."

Drummer Lars Ulrich spoke about the song: "We always wanted to do a Madonna cover for one of our records. We chose, Lucky Star because that song speaks to us." James Hetfield added, "Plain and simple, she is one of my idols; for me, she's right up there with Vince Neil and Brett Michaels. Like them, she's ahead of her time."

Stone Temple Pilots add their version of "Papa Don't Preach." They just add magic to an already tremendous song. STP's Weiland said, "When this song came out, I was a young kid on the streets, alienated from my family. After hearing it for the first time, I called my dad and told him: 'Man, I love you,'... this song is the reason we are who we are today. Forget Pearl Jam, forget Sabbath - Madonna is what influenced our band. It's so clear in

According to Adam

By Adam Appelton

I never understood this feminism stuff. A bunch of women running around burning their bras probably because they lacked a sex life.

Women are too emotional and sensitive about anything that could remotely be against them. They rally together saying that they don't make the same amount of money as men in the workforce, well that's because they don't belong there anyway. It's a man's world and women need to learn that it will always be that way. When women go into the laborforce they only take jobs away from men.

Women were created with a body to make babies so that is their function in life-to procreate, raise the children, and be subservient to her husbands every whim. Women protest that they should have a right to choose and be control of their body. They can't even control their own credit cards, that's why women should get allowances from their husbands. The man makes the baby so a woman has no right to terminate a pregnancy without her husbands knowledge. Without men women couldn't even be pregnant so they should stop thinking about the fact that they can choose just because they carry the baby around for nine months and go through labor.

Then women complain how painful labor is and how their periods are bothersome. If Eve didn't eat from the tree of knowledge then women wouldn't be in this predicament. The point is that women have no need to be knowledgeable about the world.

Women don't need anymore rights because they already have everything they need so there is no reason to further themselves academically or financially, that's what their husband is for. If women move into positions of high power their emotions may get the better of them, you know, during that time of month. It's bad enough that our so-called President of the United States allows his wife to bully him so much. It's obvious that he doesn't wear the pants in the family.

On that note, why should women even be allowed to choose their own clothing? Being that men should rule every aspect of women's lives anyway, men should buy women's wardrobes. Women should dress to please her man, not herself.

This is why America has such a high divorce rate, because women disobey. If they would follow orders correctly and didn't question her husband's intentions or authority then there would never be any problems in the marriage. Should a woman have the right to question her husband if she thinks he's having an affair? Of course not! It's none of her business what he does. After a hard days work he deserves relaxation, whatever that may entail. It doesn't mean that he loves his wife any less, only that he needs a little boost of excitement in his life.

Women always complain that men aren't romantic enough in relationships and how men don't express their feelings. Once you're married there is no need to be impressive anymore. You got what you want so why continue? Flowers are a waste of good money because they die in a few days anyway and women don't need to get fat on candy. Men are content with a beer and a hot dog, so women should be content with a mop and an iron.

Long Live Male Power!

Quick-Access University Numbers

By this point, just about everyone has used at least one of the University's Quick-Access numbers.

First, there was 2-WOLF to catch up with the latest in Stony Brook Sports.

Then came 2-SNOW for updates on adverse weather conditions.

Finally came 2-TIPS, to help bust your best friends who wreck stuff.

Now, the University unveils a whole line of numbers for fast and easy information.

Here is a sampling:

- 2-SHRL Up-to-date news on Univ. Pres. Jail term
- 2-LATE For Financial Aid Deadlines
- 2-BADD If you haven't filed yet
- 2-COOL To talk to Joey Ravioli
- 2-RICH To find out what NIA Entertainment made David Greene
- 2-DEAF To complain about parking
- 2-DUMB To find out how you can use a terrible excuse to get financial aid
- 2-LOST To find out where is Annette Hicks and her bus
- 2-DEEP To find the bottom of Polity corruption

Prospects of the onslaught of budget cuts, plus last weekend's fiasco with Klingons and power outages, have caused Student Union Building Manager Ed Quinn to age 20 years in the past two months.

Beyond the obvious graying and blank stare in his eyes, Quinn has also taken to talking to himself (or someone). He can often be found aimlessly wandering the hallway, mumbling, "First Klingons, now budget cuts. Or was it, first budget cuts, now Klingons? Or do Klingons cause budget cuts. I forget. Anyway. When I see Governor Pataki, set phasers on 'No Budget Cuts!'"

In a related story, it was reported that due to budget cuts, Ed Quinn will no longer be hired to play Santa Claus at Student Union Christmas parties.

Said Quinn, "First Klingons, now budget cuts. Or was it, first budget cuts, now Klingons? Or do Klingons cause budget cuts. I forget. Anyway. When I see Governor Pataki, set phasers on 'No Budget Cuts!'"

Quinn was then sent to the second floor of Student Health Services for evaluation.

HEY! PUT THAT THING AWAY!

"Father Spirit" Marc Newmark was seen strolling by the fountains near ESS and Harriman, bent-over in all kinds of strange positions. While no allegations have been made, he defended his odd actions, saying "I was, uh, picking up something."

New Sports Get Trial Run, Nothing Promising ¹³

Since the regular NCAA Sports Stony Brook participates will be too expensive to participate after the budget cuts, the Division of PE and Athletics has been trial-basing a number of other possible activities.

Counter-clockwise from left are: Cross-dressing and pulling long strands of things from ladies of the nights' undergarments; driving like maniacs and wrecking other people's cars; and hauling on thick ropes attached to large stationary objects (for women and men - women only shown).

Dr. Richard Laskowski said, "This is absolutely ridiculous. We might as well start churning out lawyers and thieves."

Mark Peterson, director of Athletic Media Relations said, "Well, at least there will be a lot of University records broken. That's what's good about new sports."

Baseball in Top Ten - In Division II

In an unprecedented announcement, the NCAA has announced that Stony Brook's baseball team, though officially playing in Division III, has been ranked in the top ten of Division II.

According to NCAA spokesman Ben Wahbals, this is the first time a team in one division is ranked in a higher division.

"I think that maybe a lot of the people voting were not conscious," said Wahbals, "but right now there's no proof of that."

Conscious or not, the 'Wolves aren't complaining.

"Look, we're just that good, and that's that," said baseball head coach Matt Senk. "Besides, say someone knocked out all of the voting members and then stuffed the ballot box with false votes. What would that prove?"

The baseball team has a really good record this season, but we've been a little too busy to keep up - even though one of our staffers works with the team.

Crew Team Wins Again

If you're wondering, "Gee, I didn't know we had a crew team," it's because we don't. We used to, but we don't anymore. They were pretty good, too. They won a lot of titles and stuff. We'd say they won a lot of "games," but we don't know what the hell they called them.

Anyway, back in the day, the crew team was coached by Paul Dudcziczik, or something. He's a great guy, but the University has him flying a desk and pushing pencils. What a waste of talent!

We say, get the crew back, get the equestrians into NCAA, get the ruggers on the slate, get the hockey players some home ice. And let Paul Dudcziczicziczick coach all of them.

New Football Assistant Hired

The Division ... oh, hell. The damn name's too long. Anyway, they hired Ed O'Neil (Al Bundy) as a new assistant football coach.

"I just pretty much walk around and tell all the new players how I won the city championship," said O'Neil.

Aside playing Bundy and a number of bit characters in a bunch of lame movies, O'Neil has no qualifications.

"He has name recognition," said Sam Kornhauser, director of men's athletics. "You wouldn't believe how many people say they want to come to Stony Brook because Al Bundy coaches here. Hell, we don't even use his real name - nobody knows that."

For the record, the Statesmyn Sports staff enjoyed O'Neil in Ford Fairlane.

Other Sports

Tennis won, rugby didn't, track won, men's soccer didn't, and women's soccer tied.

Stadium Will Be For All Students

STADIUM, From Back Page

disagreed. "I think it would be wonderful to be able to surf the 'net and study and then grab a foot-long on the way upstairs to watch a lacrosse or football game."

Of course, Dr. David Burner spoke out against everything, in general.

"Why build a stadium when we could raise the David Burner History Hall?" he said. "After all, only through examining History can we determine what past mistakes imperialist dictators have made so we can capitalize on them in the future. Athletics only breeds disdain and teamwork among humans, or something."

Dr. Richard Laskowski, dean of phys ed and athletics, said that the Division will only consider the current plan or one in which the rooms are turned into a press conference and dining/reception room.

"Give the people what they want," said Laskowski. "The Division is really interested in the welfare of the students. If I were just in it for the cash and glory, I would have stayed at St. John's - a real school."

Construction of the new stadium, currently nameless, is scheduled to start in early June - just as soon as the space currently occupied by the Administration building is free.

"The good thing is that we'll already have plenty of parking," said Laskowski, referring to the multi-level parking garage, also on the site, and scheduled to remain.

Admin will be relocated to South P-Lot. Administrators will still be required to park in the Faculty/Staff lots around the academic quad and will have to take a bus to the Admin building - just like employees of other normal businesses.

SURVEY SAYS...

Just over 55% of the Stony Brook students surveyed, believe the average USB student gets high on weed at least once a week.

BUT

Over 70% of the students indicated they had never even tried weed.

Only 6.8% indicated using once a week or more.

4% indicate using 3 times per week or more.

Of the 40,000 students from 4-year schools, surveyed nationally, only 3% used that often.

AND

Even if you assume the real numbers are double what people indicated, that still means that only 8%...not 55% get high that much.

Still think everybody does it?

Seawolves Softball Trounces Hapless Yanks

By DOUG MCKENZIE
Statesman Styff

The Seawolves came away with their first victory of the season, a 9-1 thrasher, in a scrimmage against the returning New York Yankee baseball players.

Aimee Brunelle pitched a seven-inning two hitter, striking out nine, and added two runs of her own to lead the way for the 'Wolves.

"This is the most embarrassing day of my life," said Yankee owner George Steinbrenner. "We got beat by a bunch of girls."

A number of the women softballers, who overheard the comment, beat the tar out of King George and sent him crying home to his mother.

"We wanted it, and they were a bunch of pansies," said Brunelle in a post-game press conference. "Now if we can only beat a bunch of girls."

Brunelle started the game by striking out three of the first four batters she faced. The third man up, Don Mattingly, claimed he was hit by a pitch. Though no one saw the ball hit Mattingly, and Brunelle claimed otherwise, the home plate umpire got so sick of the big man's whining that he sent him to first just to get away from him.

The next four-and-a-half innings were scoreless. In the bottom of the fourth, Yankee Manager Buck Showalter took a trip out to the mound to help Steve Howe, who was on a trip of his own, light his bowl. At the end of the inning, Howe staggered to the wrong dugout and was escorted to the showers.

In the top of the sixth, Wade Boggs dribbled a cheesy grounder between short and third. He trotted to second on a Brunelle wild pitch. In Brunelle's defense, she'd been gunning pitches consistently in the 60 mph range.

With two out, Danny Tartabull lined a shot into left-center that scored Boggs and gave himself a two-bagger.

That was it for the Yanks.

In the bottom of the sixth, the Seawolves exploded. Traversing through the line-up, chinking away at the Yankee defense, the Brook scored nine runs on a number of singles and doubles.

"Just about everyone got to play, and I'm happy about that," said Stony Brook's head coach in her freshman effort. "I just hope we can keep up this momentum for a couple of NCAA games."

Notes: Steve Howe was pitching overhand fast pitch while he was standing. Brunelle took it easy on the guys, tossing a mix of fast and slow pitch - underhand. . . Steinbrenner was treated for a bruised ego at University Medical Center and was released. . . Mattingly is still whining about something.

Quotes: "Why did they hurt me?" asked Steinbrenner as he was taken to the ambulance. "Why? Why? Why?" . . . "When I grow up," said Brunelle, "I want to be just like Steve Howe. HA! HA! HA! HA! HA! HA! HA! HA! HA!"

Next: The softball team plays a home-and-home against the Toronto Blue Jays this weekend before returning to their regular season schedule. □

Indoor Sports Complex Gets New Name

By TOMAS DAMASSI
Statesman Don

The Division of Physical Education and Athletics said they will rename the Indoor Sports Complex effective April 15. The announcement marks the end of a three-month process and extensive corporate bidding war.

According to Dr. Richard Laskowski, dean of the Division, Athletics had been looking for a donation as a naming gift for two months before the bidding was open to corporate proposals.

The original gift sought was for $4.13784109 million by a single person. However, the highest bid came in at just under $248.96 by Danny Arena, the ISC's stores clerk. His proposed name for the building: The Danny Arena. The second place bid was from Father Spirit, himself, who offered free pretzels for a year for ISC staff

Either Dr. Richard Laskowski is very happy about finally having a new name and $5.2 million for the Indoor Sports Complex, or he's been checking out Prozac's free samples.

to name the building "Newmark Coliseum."

Laskowski said that 14 bids came in from various companies including Chevrolet and Chase Manhattan Bank, Pepsico, and Fleet Bank. Fleet recently merged with Shawmut Bank in New England, in the process buying the replacement to the Boston Garden to become FleetCenter.

"We opted to move away from Fleet because of the Garden deal," said former Director of Sports Information Ken Alber who had nothing to do with the negotiations or final decision.

"We didn't want to be called FleetCenter, too. What would happen if we play a team from Boston and all we can say is that it's in FleetCenter. We won't know what state we're in."

Laskowski said the bidding was competitive and many of the names were indicative of the image Stony Brook is striving for.

"The bidding was competitive and many of the names were indicative of the image Stony Brook is striving for," he said.

Some of the losing bids were:

McDonalds Corp., McSeawolf Center; Pepsico, Pepsi Pavilion; Chevrolet and Chase Manhattan Bank, Chevy Chase Center, IBM and Kentucky Fried Chicken, the University at Stony Brook International Business Machines Kentucky Fried Chicken Indoor Sports Physical Education Athletic and Conditioning Facility (USBIMKFCISPEACF); Lexus, The Lexus Forum (a.k.a. - The Garage); Chemical Bank, The Chemical Dump; Pepsico's Pizza Hut, The Hut; Xerox, The Copier Complex; MCI, the Friends and Family Forum; ESPN, SportsCenter; and Centrum, the Vitamin B Complex.

All of these were passed up in favor of the highest bid which came in at $5.75 million and free samples. The bid was entered by the makers of Prozac who have chosen the name "The Inferiority Complex."

"We're very excited that the name they settled on is very close to what we started with," said Laskowski. "Right now, I'm going to go break something."

"I suppose anything that says 'Inferior' on it isn't all that inspiring," said Director of Athletic Media Relations Mark Peterson, stashing away some of the advance samples. "But with the stuff we're getting, who really cares what we call it?" →

By THURMAN MUNSON
Special to The Statesman

Because of the oncoming budget cuts, the Division of Physical Education and Athletics has decided not to continue with the original stadium plans, according to officials in the Division.

Mike Cassidy, executive director of the soon-to-be-Inferiority Complex, said that instead of locker rooms, the new stadium will house a number of "academic rooms." The four rooms will include: A reading library with fireplace; an on-line-library computer room; a quiet-study lounge; and a mega-loud, hip-hop, party room, complete with 18 hours per day of DJ Smooth "C."

"The Smooth 'C' thing was something that the Polity Student Activities Board insisted on," said Cassidy. "They said, 'We don't care if people can't study, Cyril has to work.'"

A source in SAB who requested anonymity said, "You don't actually think we program all those DJ events because people are clamoring for them, do you?"

At any rate, Cassidy said that until the rest of the campus is brought up to speed - about the time USB wins its 42nd national championship - the rooms will remain for the general student's benefit.

Marc Newmark said that pretzels and the usual sports fare will be available while the rooms are open "if I personally have to stand there 24-hours-a-day to make sure they get served. I was a student once and I know what it takes, and some of these kids have a lot of studying to do, because, you know, some of them just need to study more, and I'll do everything I can to make sure they get done what they need to so they can graduate, because a college education is essential today, and Stony Brook is the greatest place in the world. . ."

Reaction from students has been mixed, somewhat.

"Who the hell wants to study?" said Lex Luthor, 24, a PoliSci senior. "This is college. Besides, if I wanted an education, I would have taken a real major. Why don't they put a friggin' bar in there?"
