Stewart Harris, chairman of the Mechanical Engineering Department is now acting dean of the College of Engineering and Applied Sciences until a search committee finds a replacement.

A search will be underway soon for a new dean of the College of Engineering and Applied Sciences (CEAS), necessitated by the resignation of John Bilello, who left the position on Sept. 1 to head a million dollar nation-wide research project.

Bilello, 42, will be replaced temporarily by Stewart Harris, chairman of the Mechanical Engineering Department and now acting CEAS dean. Bilello will work on a synchrotron topography project that seeks to improve X-ray capabilities many times. He will be on a sabbatical for the next year, but will work on the project while teaching material science at Stony Brook after that.

Bilello said he was excited about the research, which will be run from the university and from Brookhaven National Labs in Upton.

Bilello joined the Stony Brook faculty in 1967 as an assistant professor of material science. He became a full professor in 1975, spent 1½ years as chairman of the Mechanical Engineering Department and became dean in 1977, succeeding John Truxal who, ironically, served as dean for exactly four years and two months - the same length of time as Bilello. Truxal is now a professor Technology and Society.

CEAS is one of five colleges within the university. It includes the departments of Applied Mathematics and Statistics, Electrical Engineering, Materials Science and Engineering and Technology and Society.

More $ Needed Marburger Says To SB Council

By Nancy Tamosaitis

The Stony Brook Council held its first meeting of the new school year Tuesday afternoon; the topic foremost on each trustee's mind was the 1982-83 budget proposal.

The approval of this budget request by the state would mean considerable peace of mind to administrators as well as to students and teachers alike. If the budget is adopted in full, which is unlikely, it will provide an increase of about $29 million to Stony Brook.

Stony Brook President John Marburger stated that in comparison to other SUNY university centers, "we have insufficient faculty, insufficient support staff, insufficient supplies money, insufficient compensation for graduate students and for library acquisitions, inadequate computation facilities and inadequacies in nearly all areas of student services and recreational facilities."

Marburger finds "few departments have enough faculty." He also expressed sympathy for the financial plight of graduate students at Stony Brook. "I believe that the state should recognize its obligation to this exceptionally valuable sector of its workforce."

The new budget will also allocate funds to both University Hospital and the Dental School. The expansion of hospital services requires a medical school faculty able to staff the various new specialized areas.

Growth and continued excellence from the College of Engineering is also a top priority of the Council. "Regional industrial development groups are looking toward Stony Brook for leadership and growth in this area," Marburger said.

Marburger seems optimistic about the future of Stony Brook, declaring that it "seeks to become a comprehensive university, ranking in quality with the principal campuses of the great university systems in the United States."

It was announced at the meeting that Marburger has devised a new allocation process, in which each vice-president is given funds to be spent at his own discretion for campus programs. Athletics and cultural events are two of the programs which will be funded in this manner.

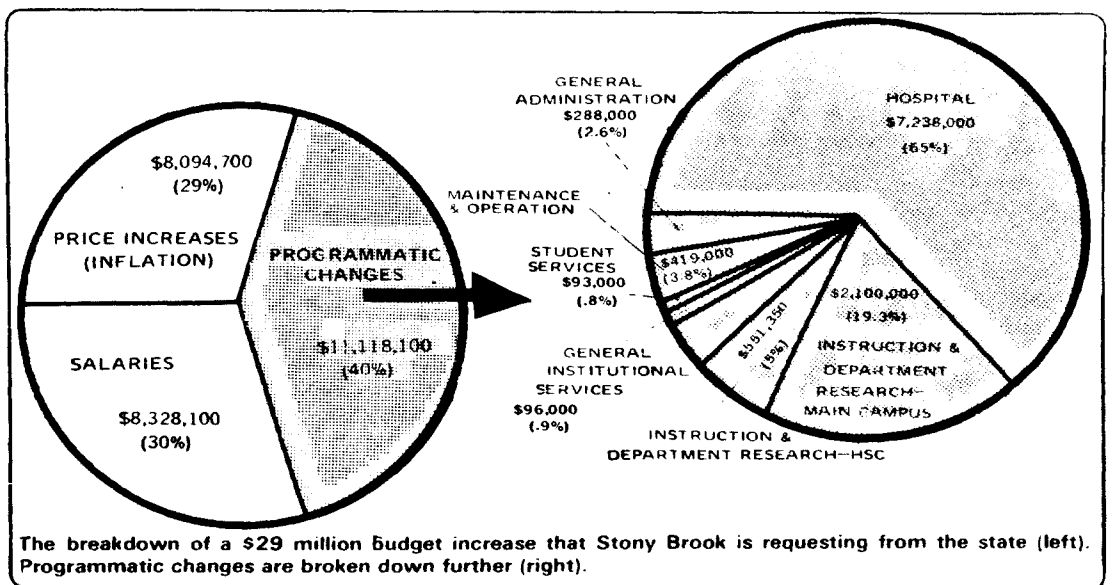

Council Chairman R. Christian Anderson praised this new procedure as a "great gain" of which the president is to be congratulated.

Anderson was not pleased, however, about the lack of a student member in the Stony Brook Council. The Council provides membership for one elected student each year. In a plea to the students, Anderson said "I hope that the various student organizations get their act together and elect a student member. There are distinct disadvantages in the absence of a student on our board."

Increase in SB Budget Surpasses First Hurdle

An increase of $29 million in Stony Brook's budget has been approved by the SUNY administration and will now be brought before the State Division of the budget, it was announced at a Stony Brook Council meeting Tuesday.

The increase would raise the university's budget in the 1982-83 fiscal year to about $170 million if approved, although a Stony Brook official said that is very unlikely.

The official, who requested anonymity, stressed that SUNY approval was merely the first and not largest step. Last year, for example, the state approved only half the amount that SUNY had suggested.

After SUNY administration reviews each campus' request it then must pass the biggest hurdle, the Division of the Budget, and finally, the governor. His decision should be announced by January 20.

The largest increase would be for growth of the university, about $11 million. Inflation and salary increases would each raise the budget an additional $8 million, according to the university's final request to the state.

"Historically...Stony Brook was not as well-funded as the other university centers," the Stony Brook official said. "There wasn't a reason. It just happened that way. The budget (approved by SUNY seems to address that problem."

Of the money for the university's growth, most 65 percent will go to University Hospital. But, the official cautioned, "When our hospital hits 500 beds and is fully opened, you won't see that kind of increase for Stony Brook."

Reagan Reveals Portion of $16 Billion Slash

President Reagan told his cabinet that a new round of proposed budget cuts will require "blood, sweat and tears" from everyone -- including Social Security recipients.

The President surprised the nation and congress yesterday when he acknowledged plans to cut Social Security benefits for the fiscal year beginning October 1. The cutback is part of Reagan's overall plan to slash some $16 billion from the 1982 budget in an effort to balance the budget by 1984.

The President discussed the plan with his Cabinet yesterday before he left for

Grand Rapids, Michigan and a meeting with three foreign leaders.

Just a few days ago, a White House Spokesman, David Gergen, denied the administration had its budget-trimming eye on Social Security, and the President's closest Senate ally, Nevada Republican Paul Laxalt, said just three days ago that there was "no serious discussion concerning any cuts" in that program. Laxalt added that the issue "should be put to rest."

But the issue has sprung to life. Reagan's plan is to delay -- for at least three months -- a cost-of-living increase for Social Security recipients. The hike is scheduled to go into effect July 1, 1982. The postponement would save the government about $2.8 billion.

The administration made the same proposal several months ago ... Congress flatly rejected it ... and there are no indications the lawmakers have changed their positions.

After hearing of Reagan's renewed attempt, House Speaker "Tip" O'Neill declared the Democrats will not let Reagan "wreck the system."

The President also is planning to ask Congress to put off scheduled increases for eight other pension and welfare programs, including Unemployment Compensation, Food Stamps and the Veterans' Retirement Plan.

According to spokesman Gergen, the deferrals would cost each federal pension recipient an average of $10.

Congressional action on the proposals could come within two weeks.

Meanwhile, there are reports the President is also swinging his budget as in the direction of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA). Congressional sources say Reagan hopes to phase out the $4 billion program by September 30, 1982.

President Reagan is expected to unveil next weeks plans to abolish the Departments of Energy and Education ... and no departments, of course, would mean no jobs for its employees.

Some are being laid off already. Education Secretary T.H. Bell has dismissed 807 workers and he expects to trim 200 more by the year's end. Over at D.O.E. Secretary James Edwards has been busy dismantling parts of his domain since taking over last January. Some 1,200 employees will be gone by October 1.

Some staffers say apathy reigns at the departments, created during the Carter Administration.

New York - In one of the biggest police roundups in New York City history, some 200 specially-selected officers staged raids in all five boroughs yesterday and arrested 98 people on charges of peddling marijuana in the vicinity of schools.

The action follows the establishment earlier this summer of a Special Narcotics Street Enforcement Unit, which Police Commissioner Robert McGuire said would concentrate on areas frequented by pushers.

Officer Charles Maddaloni says 60 of those arrested yesterday were charged with selling marijuana, and the other 38 with possession. He says all the suspects are adults.

The sweep began with the opening of schools yesterday morning and continued until they closed for the day.

Hempstead - A federal mediator says negotiations between the Diocese of Rockville Centre and teachers striking its four high schools on Long Island recessed yesterday without significant progress.

Mediator Hezekiah Brown said he met for 2½ hours with representatives of the union and four schools - Maria Regina in Uniondale, Holy Trinity in Hicksville, St. John the Baptist in West Islip and Holy Family in Huntington.

Brown said the teachers, members of the Lay Faculty Association, "made moderate modifications in their proposal." but he said the talks produced "nothing significant to be considered as any progress toward ending the dispute."

No new talks have been scheduled.

He was named in sealed indictments handed up by a Grand Jury Tuesday and opened in court yesterday before Saratoga County Surrogate Robert Doran. Doran presided in court in Schenectady.

The indictments charge that between Jan. 1, 1979, and April 30, 1981, when he was asked to resign, Esposito failed to deposit "about $35,124." He was accused of converting the funds to his own use. He was freed on $30,000. He faces one count of grand larceny and two of official misconduct.

New York - The search for New York State's newest lottery millionaire ended yesterday when a retired merchant seaman from Brooklyn showed up and claimed his $2.2 million prize.

Walking with the aid of crutches, 58-year-old Johan Johansson appeared with his lawyer at the office of the Lottery's Regional Director James Nolan in the World Trade Center.

Nolan checked Johansson's Lotto ticket and confirmed that it was the winner of last Saturday night's drawing.

When no one claimed the big prize after that drawing, lottery officials began to wonder whether the winner might not be aware of his good fortune.

But Johansson said he has known about it since Saturday night. He said he, "almost had a heart attack at that point," but waited until Tuesday to call his lawyer, who got back to him yesterday.

Johansson said he doesn't know what impact the money will have on his life. He said he will remain in his house in Brooklyn, where he's lived for 28 years and where his wife, Bridget, died six years ago.

He said he will not use the money to visit his brother and sister in Sweden. He said he has done all the traveling he ever wants to do.

A World War II veteran, Johansson twice was on ships that were torpedoed, and once spent eight days in a lifeboat. He suffered a leg injury when the merchant ship Sea Witch, on which he was a crewman, hit a tanker under the Verrazano Narrows Bridge on June 2, 1973. Fourteen people were killed in the resulting fire.

Johansson said of his prize, "Money, really, when you get down to it, what is it? I want my health. You cannot buy your health."

Voter Registration Drive Held at Stony Brook

By Mitchell Wagner

A voter registration drive on all SUNY campuses is being launched by the New York Public Interest Research Group (NYPIRG), in conjunction with the Student Association of the State University of New York (SASU). Stony Brook students can register to vote or obtain voter registration information in the lobby of the Stony Brook Union this week. In addition, NYPIRG members will be soliciting voter registration during and between classes until Sept. 26.

Thanks to a decision by United States District Court Judge Neal McGunr in Albany County, SASU, together with the Albany Student Association won the rights for Albany students to vote in their college communities. Previously, Albany students were subject to 22 questions regarding their residence, marital status, employment, and financial dependence on parents. This year they have the option of registering to vote in their home or college communities. This decision helped students in Broome and Onondaga counties to register in their college communities.

According to Jim Leota, project coordinator of the Stony Brook chapter of NYPIRE, NYPIRG will not be registering Stony Brook students in the college community, pending a lawsuit NYPIRG is filing to extend the Albany decision statewide. Results on this suit are expected later this year. Students who rent off-campus housing, however, will be allowed to register to vote in the districts in which they rent. Last year, six students living on-campus who registered to vote in the campus community were denied registration by the Suffolk County Board of Elections, Leota said.

Students Denied Vote

Several students from SUNY Cortland have attempted to register in Cortland county in the past few weeks, but were told they could not, according to a report by the Students Association of the State University (SASU), a student-interest group.

One student was told by a Cortland County Board of Elections staff member that he needed "emancipation papers" to register in Cortland, the report said. Other students have been told that if they register to vote in Cortland, their parents will be unable to claim them as a dependent for income tax purposes.

However, "After speaking with two different tax representatives in the Internal Revenue Services district office in Baltimore, Maryland, we found out that where a person registers to vote has nothing to do with dependency for income tax purposes," said Briggs, who, along with Bill Thomas, president of the Cortland College Student Association (CCSA), CCSA Vice-President and SASU delegate Julie Hastings, decided to determine the validity of the Election Board's statements. "We also checked with the New York State Department of Taxation and Finance, and the same tests for dependency are used by the state government for income tax purposes. The Cortland County Board of Elections is actually dispensing incorrect information. This only serves to discourage a large segment of the population from registering to vote."

"We've known that winning students the right to vote in their college communities would be a difficult struggle," Briggs said, "but it will be one marked with constant vigilance."

"Students live in their college communities the majority of the year. They are counted as part of the census. They pay sales taxes there and are subject to the same city and town ordinances as other residents."

"They are truly members of the community," said Dave Wysniewski, president of SASU.

"The ability of students to vote in their college communities means the opportunity to elect representatives who are responsive to our needs," Wysniewski added. Locally, students may vote for community service funding. On a state level, students may vote concerning SUNY funds and the Tuition Assistance Program (TAP). On the federal level, students can influence federal legislators regarding the affects of reduced financial aid programs.

Commuter College Closes for Construction

Commuter students will be able to use the new equipment which includes ping-pong tables and a giant television screen when Commuter College, located in the Stony Brook Union, reopens on Oct. 1, according to Diane Neuls, (inset) student coordinator of Commuter College.

By Nadia Sefein

Commuter College, located in room 080 of the Stony Brook Union, has attempted to open its doors to commuters several times in the past year but has been hampered by construction problems.

The new room needed plumbing repairs and lighting work that will take about four weeks to complete according to construction workers. Under the urging of Diane Neuls, student coordinator of Commuter College, carpenters are now working seven days a week to rush the job so the new lounge can hold its grand opening October 1.

The lounge has new equipment, including a pool table, ping pong tables and a giant television screen. Also, with additional space since commuter college moved from the basement of Gray College in G Quad, there is room in the lounge for an office, a storage room, a study area and a kitchen complete with a microwave oven.

Nuels is anticipating great reaction to the new Commuter College. She said that response has already been very favorable and that the new lounge will probably serve twice as many students than when it was housed in Gray College.

Performance To be Given On New Piano

The first solo recital to be given on a newly acquired copy of a fortepiano built in 1795 is scheduled Tuesday, Sept. 22 at 8 pm in the Fine Arts Center Recital Hall at Stony Brook.

David Schulenberg, a doctoral candidate in Music History, will present a program including Mozart's Fantasia and Sonata in C minor; Haydn's Sonata 48 in C; C.P.E. Bach's Fantasia in C and Rondo in A; Chopin's 3 Mazurkas, opus 50 and Beethoven's Sonata in D, op. 10, no. 3.

The fortepiano, acquired recently by the Music Department, differs from the modern piano in its lighter, more delicate tone and construction. It closely resembles the instruments used by Haydn, Mozart and the young Beethoven.

Schulenberg, who studied at Harvard and Stanford before coming to Stony Brook, has appeared as a harpsichordist in numerous performances, most recently as a fellow with the Bach Aria Institute which took place at Stony Brook this summer.

The recital will be open to the public, with no admission charge.

Public Safety Officers Awarded

Special awards have been given four peace officers at Stony Brook.

Officer Larry Simon of Patchogue was awarded the state university peace officer bar for "an outstanding heroic act." Hugh Cassidy, acting director of the Department of Public Safety, presented Simon a citation for his action May 14 in a campus dormitory fire. The citation said he "put out a mattress fire...which caused injury to both his hands (preventing) what could have been an extremely serious situation..."

Cassidy presented bars for dedicated service to three veteran members of the department, Lt. William Goshell of Lake Grove, the department's training supervisor, who has nearly 15 years' service, Sgt. Warren Weingarten of Port Jefferson, 14½ years and Officer William Plog of Terryville, whose 18-year record includes service on another campus and in the military before joining the Stony Brook department 14 years ago.

The awards were the first given here in five years. Congratulations were offered by James Black, vice president for University Affairs, and University Business Manager Paul Madonna.

LIRR Switches To Bus Service From Port Jeff

The Long Island Rail Road has announced that midday train service on the Port Jefferson line will be replaced because of a track improvement program by a bus service designed to accommodate Stony Brook University.

On weekdays between 8:50 AM and 4:18 PM, buses only will operate to and from the Stony Brook Station. On Fridays, and on Monday, Sept. 28 and Wednesday, Oct. 7, however, train service from Stony Brook will resume at 2:15 PM instead of 4:18 PM, in order to accommodate the larger number of students returning home for weekends for Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. Stony Brook students returning to the city on Friday afternoons and before the holidays should postpone traveling until 2:15 PM when train service, with more available seating than bus service, is resumed, according to the LIRR.

New timetables with the revised bus and train schedules are available at all LIRR ticket offices, and are printed below.

The project improvements will smoother and quieter ride; the extension of a track siding at Huntington that will greatly facilitate train movement through the area; and the extension of the Stony Brook passenger platform to accommodate longer trains. (see related story).

An experimental program has been designed to reflect travel time and improve service reliability more than during past track projects undertaken by the railroad when regularly scheduled train service is subject to unspecified delays, according to the LIRR.

The new program will provide passengers with express bus service to each of the intermediate stations between Huntington and Port Jefferson while minibuses will transport passengers to all local stops.

Westbound buses will depart stations about 30 minutes earlier than the trains they are replacing and eastbound bus arrival times will be extended about 30 minutes to reflect the reality of road travel. Timetables available with

SASU Sets Priorities

Students gaining the right to vote in their college communities and dealing more effectively with SUNY Central are just two priorities on a long list for the new officers of the Student Association of the State University (SASU).

"SUNY Central is not working with us on the level we want to be dealt with," said SASU Executive Vice-President Julia Leavy, a senior at Oneonta State. "Things are being done behind our backs. SASU was not contacted on the Add/Drop fee. That is something that will effect all of us as students. We should be working with SUNY Central when they are changing any aspect of our education. We should have a say in the decision making and the bargaining process.

"SASU must be recognized as the 'legitimate' student organization and it should be known that there is power here," she continued.

"A change in direction is needed in dealing with SUNY Central. We must build a more constructive relationship with the," added SASU President Dave Wynowski, a SUNY Binghamton senior.

According to Leavy, SASU must help in getting people to vote in their college community. SASU must be present and show that students have voting power. "Students are a constituency and we need to be dealt with accordingly," she says.

One problem facing SUNY year in and year out is that it has no political clout. SUNY is a public institution at the "mercy of the political machinery" in this state, according to Wynowski.

"One of our most effective avenues in our fight is our vote. Unfortunately, students don't always vote or when they do vote, they generally don't vote within their college communities. All across the state we must build SUNY constituencies where legislators will know that they must defend our interests or bite the dust. Therefore, the voter registration drive that SASU is co-sponsoring with NYPIRG is extremely crucial," he continues.

One of the major goals of SASU's president is to "restore the credibility" students have in the organization. SASU must meet the needs of all students and not just a select few.

SASU also plans to meet the needs of the apolitical student as well as the political student. Services like the SASU low-cost travel program will be offered this year to attract others, Leavy said.

Another issue on the minds of SASU's officers is bringing the community colleges into the association. "The community college students have more 'roots' in their community. We must reach out to their needs now that we have the resources to do so," Leavy said. "This," she added, "would bring in a more diverse constituency."

"It's a lot easier with a Texas Instruments calculator designed to solve business problems."

Touch a few special keys on these Texas Instruments calculators, the TI Business Analyst-II and The MBA, and lengthy time-value-of-money problems suddenly aren't lengthy anymore. You can automatically calculate profit margins, forecast sales and earnings and perform statistics.

And problems with repetitive calculations are a piece of cake for the MBA, because it's programmable.

These calculators mean business, and what they give you is time—time to grasp underlying business concepts, while they handle the number crunching. To make it even easier, each calculator comes with a book written especially for it, which shows you how to make use of the calculator's full potential.

The Business Analyst-II and MBA business calculators from Texas Instruments. Two ways to run a successful business major, without running yourself ragged.

Optional Fee?

With the ever increasing cost of living, it comes as little surprise to students that the price of an education also increases.

Over the years tuition, dormitory fees and the activities fee—all mandatory fees—have also increased. The price of student health insurance has also risen, but no where on the printed bill that students receive prior to paying the fees does it say that the student health insurance is an optional expense.

We do not question the necessity of health insurance, but rather the practice of the university to include the fee when computing a bill which includes all mandatory fees and one optional fee, not listing it as an option.

Students choose to subscribe to the meal plan before the semester begins, by filling out forms and requesting to be on the plan. If a student does not wish to be on the meal plan, it is not automatically included on his bill. Some students sign up for the meal plan when they return to school and even after the semester begins. Why then do students see an optional health insurance fee included on their bill before paying their bill?

Many students have health insurance coverage upon entering the university, but some do not realize that the cost is an option because it is included with all other mandatory fees not indicating that it is up to each student to determine if they will need or want it.

We question the policy of the university to include $124 to each students bill without noting on the actual bill that the fee is an option that all need not pay.

Prostituting Science

An Open Letter to University President John Marburger and the University Community:

Last Friday many of us were shocked to find the chemistry department sponsoring a seminar by Dr. Edward Pozio-mek (chief scientist, U.S. Army Armament Research and Development Command, Chemical Systems Lab) entitled "New Perspectives in Chemical Defense Research."

We find this development odious on two counts. First, chemical warfare has been deemed illegal and morally reprehensible by all civilized nations. Second, the growing funding of basic research by the Department of Defense on this and other campuses threatens academic freedom and integrity.

The knowledge and methods of science know no morality. Scientists, on the other hand, must take moral and social responsibility for the practical work they do. The prostitution of science to perfect the weapons of death known as "chemical warfare" is immoral and socially irresponsible. We believe that it has no place in a free university.

(This letter was prepared by graduate students and post-doctoral fellows in the Department of Chemistry.)

Congratulations

To the Editor:

From all indications, and from my own experience of some of the events, Fall Fest 1981 was an enormous success. I must commend the SUSB student body, in general, and the members of Polity, SCOOP, FSA, and the many other student organizations for all of the hard work that went into staging an extremely successful event.

The conduct of the entire affair could very well serve as a model for other campuses in the SUNY system and certainly has given Stony Brook a tremendous boost toward establishing an ongoing tradition of Fall Fests in future years.

As a new member of the campus community, I have thus far been very much impressed by the level of sophistication and community-building zeal exhibited by campus student leaders. The Commuter College Barbecue, the reception to welcome Dr. Homer Neal and me to the campus, and Fall Fest are but a few of several illustrations of the student body's organizational strengths and commitment.

Very clearly, there is positive potential for the environment of this campus to become one of the most exciting and stimulating in the state and, possibly, in the nation. The members of the Student Affairs staff and I are committed to working in partnership with the student community to make this goal a reality.

Again, my hearty congratulations and praise to the entire student body. I am delighted to be a part of the SUSB community.

Frederick R. Preston
Vice President
for Student Affairs

'HI, THERE, Q. DUNLEY DUNBAR, FEDERAL AVIATION ADMINISTRATION. HAVE YOU EVER CONSIDERED A CAREER AS AN AIR TRAFFIC CONTROLLER?'

N-Bomb? No

By Richard Reeve & Mitchel Cohen

We condemn the recent decision to produce neutron bombs as a dangerous and aggressive step by the Reagan administration in its unprecedented military build-up and moves toward war.

"The decision to produce and stockpile the neutron bomb is an electrifyingly dangerous development for the people of this country and the world. It was made despite the growing opposition of the American people here and of Washington's NATO allies. These 'kill-people, preserve-property' weapons will be added to a doomsday arsenal of 40,000 warheads, already capable of destroying all life on this planet many times over. The statements from Washington about the N-bomb preserving the peace through deterrence must be viewed with alarm. This is a blatantly aggressive, not defensive, act and yet another perilous step which brings us closer to war." (Dr. Michio Kaku, professor of Nuclear Physics at the City College of New York and director of the Institute for Safe Technology.)

What Is The Neutron Bomb? How Is It Different?

The Neutron Bomb is a hydrogen bomb designed so that radioactive fall-out and the initial blast are minimized relative to the burst of neutron radiation released by the explosion. A "small" tactical battle-field N-Bomb, delivered by artillery or short-range rocket would devastate an area a few hundred yards in radius with its blast, and all life within about two miles would be destroyed by neutron radiation. Life further away would suffer permanent genetic damage resulting in cancers and generations of mutations.

The N-Bomb is lusted after on Wall Street and in corporate boardrooms across America where people are considered easily expendable, and where the accumulation of billions of dollars in private profits (at the public expense) is the sole aim. Since the N-Bomb is designed to kill people but to leave property intact (relative to other nuclear weapons), it is the ideal Bankers' Bomb. We can easily see the real priorities of the government. While Vietnam veterans have to struggle to obtain treatment for war injuries and exposure to Agent Orange, the U.S. government is still paying $38 million every year—money which could easily be used to begin healing the wounds of Viet vets and providing social services—to General Motors and to Ford for the U.S. Air Force's bombing of GM and Ford plants in Germany during World War II, where both GM and Ford were making tanks and other arms for the Nazis. (See Red Balloon No. 15, fall 1979, for more details.)

Why Is It Being Proposed Now? What Is It For?

The government's recent decision to assemble the Neutron Bomb was a major step in the build-up toward war. For the first time, the U.S. government is openly planning to use nuclear weapons against conventional forces. President Carter had ordered the production of the Neutron Bomb components in 1977, but stopped short of assembling them due to massive protests in Europe and in the U.S. The Reagan Administration, led in this instance by Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger, has now decided to assemble the already-manufactured components in Amarillo, Texas. The Neutron Bomb will soon be ready to spray its deadly neutrons and make the world safe for democracy, even if it means irradiating all the would-be voters.

NATO has decided how to "defend" us. For years it has been practicing how to fight on an "integrated battlefield"—combining chemical, biological, and nuclear weapons with conventional. COINTELPRO revelations, obtained under the Freedom of Information Act (which Reagan is now trying to repeal), revealed extensive testing of chemical and biological weapons on civilian populations within the United States, particularly on rush-hour riders of the New York City and other metropolitan subway systems in 1964 and 1965. Some of these "researches" will now be put to use in the European, African, Latin American, and Asian "theatres" and, when perfected further, may be used in urban areas within the U.S. to help put-down "food riots" and other domestic insurrections.

The Neutron Bomb remains the current favorite of the generals. The current justification for it is that it can be used against tanks with extreme effectiveness, and the tanks, with their occupants dead, can then be captured and used by the U.S. But this is just the cover story to manipulate public opinion.

The Neutron Bomb is clearly more suited as an offensive, not a defensive, weapon. As mentioned earlier, it destroys everything living for many miles around. It lowers the threshold for nuclear war by introducing nuclear weapons into a previously conventional conflict. In all probability it would be the first step in a ladder of escalation leading to nuclear holocaust. Even if there was no nuclear escalation, use of the neutron bomb condemns thousands of survivors to life ridden with cancer and generations of mutations. As a U.S. General recently said: "Towns in West Germany are only a few megatons apart."

What Can We Do?

For starters, join with the Peoples' Anti-War Mobilization and the Red Balloon Collective in its marches against the neutron bomb and the war build-up every Saturday. We meet at 2 PM at Meat Farms in Port Jefferson Station (near the Post Office) and march through Port Jeff, distributing thousands of leaflets, and letting people see and hear the opposition to the Reagan Program. We are also preparing a list of all corporations involved in the manufacture of the Neutron Bomb. We will begin activities of various kinds at these monsters, with the intent being the prevention of business as usual. We are also planning many marches and protests designed to raise public awareness of the incredible military build-up taking place at the expense of socially necessary programs—food stamps, meaningful jobs, housing, mass transit, solar energy, education, and other things that we need to survive, and to improve the quality of our lives. We are also planning an enormous "All Peoples' Congress" to be held Oct. 16 to 18 in Detroit. Buses will be available from Stony Brook. To be effective, to draw up a peoples' platform, and to plan an offensive that will overturn the Reagan program of cutbacks, racism, war and sexism, we must include everyone affected by the cuts: national organizations, students, neighborhood associations, local daycare centers, trade unions, employed and unemployed; elderly and disabled; women and men; gay and straight; Black and White; Latin, Asian, and American Indian. Everyone who has a gripe about what is happening to them in this country, our country. Contact us now. Get involved.

Death And Taxes

By David Wycoff

About an hour after the final vote on the Reagan budget and tax-cut-for-the-rich program, Reagan and his staff celebrated their victory with champagne and song. House Speaker Tip O'Neill (D, Mass.) called to say, "No hard feelings, old pal . . ." So this is the leader of the opposition?

What about you? Do you have hard feelings because the Social Security Minimum Benefit is to be scrapped in March 1982? Maybe it bothers you that one million people will lose all food stamp benefits, or that aid to families with dependant children (AFDC) has been cut by $1.6 billion; or that striking workers will be ineligible for food stamps or AFDC even if they had been receiving it while on the job; or that the budget for school lunches and other child nutrition programs has been cut by 35 percent, public education by 20 percent, and legal aid for the poor is headed for the scrap heap, or that military marching bands will be receiving more money ($89 million) than the entire National Endowment for the Arts and Humanities! In this time of high unemployment, maybe it bothers you that all $3.8 billion worth of public service CETA jobs have been eliminated. Even if you have a job, it's going to cost you more to get to work since $1.3 billion has been cut from mass-transit funds.

But of course not all parts of the budget have been cut. The military will get $326 billion in additional funds over the next two years. The $1.6 billion cut from food stamps and $1.5 billion cut from child nutrition will provide $3.1 billion worth of nuclear weapons and the $3.8 billion cut in CETA jobs will build an extra $3.7 billion worth of ships for the navy. In fact, Reagan proposes to double military spending—to $343 billion by 1986.

Maybe we should look on the bright side. After all, there will be massive across the board tax cuts in the coming years. Reagan emphasizes that his tax cut program is fair because everyone will get the same 10% income tax reduction next year. What he doesn't mention is that the top 20% of the taxpayers will get 60% of the tax cut and the top 1% of the taxpayers will get 11.3% of the cut. At the same time, a family of four earning $11,000 will save $60 on taxes. That family will also lose its food stamps, which provides $1 a day for each member of the family, or $1,460 for a full year. So this family will suffer a net loss of $1400 from the new "fair" budget, which the family making $100,000 per year will save at least $1,840 in taxes and the oil companies, with profits of $30 billion in 1980, will save $33 billion over the next decade. In short, the Reagan budget is simply a redistribution of wealth from poor and working people to the rich, the corporations and the military.

(The writer is a graduate student in Physics and member of the Peoples' Anti-War Mobilization.)

Eastbound passengers will disembark trains at Huntington and board an express bus to their home station. Westbound passengers will board buses at their home station for express travel to Huntington where they will board a train to continue their trip. Intermediate local service between Greenlawn and Port Jefferson will be provided by minibus.

Departure times of westbound trains from Huntington will not be affected during the track work.

Track improvements between Northport and Port Jefferson also include the installation of rubberized grade crossing panels, renewal of ties, renewal of switches and resurfacing of ballast. The southside track siding at Huntington will be extended 1,000 feet, permitting a portion of the main line track now used for train storage to be cleared.

The $10.6 million track rehabilitation project is being funded by ongoing federal and state grants.

Jefferson Packs to Green Bay

Neither side was happy about it. But both all pro wide receiver John Jefferson and the San Diego Chargers felt a parting of the ways was best for all concerned -- and so Jefferson is now a green bay packer.

Jefferson told the Chargers he would never play for them again, San Diego sent the holdout pass catcher to Green Bay for draft choices and future considerations. The deal is contingent on the packers being able to sign Jefferson in a specified amount of time.

SB Members Take Bronze In Empire State Games

By Laurie J. Reinschreiber

Some Stony Brook students and coaches were not vacationing between August 12 and August 16, instead they participated in the Empire State Games in Syracuse.

Paul Dudzick, coach of the women's cross country team took part in the elite heavyweight four oared shell without coxswain. This event consists of four men over 18 years old rowing a narrow 42 foot long racing shell less than one-eighth of an inch thick.

Dudzick has been rowing since he was 13-years-old. Before coaching the cross country team three years ago, he coached the Stony Brook crew team for nine seasons until it disbanded in 1977 because it could not secure a permanent boat house. The team rowed in the Port Jefferson Harbor.

Also in Dudzick's boat at the Empire State Games was a Stony Brook PhD. candidate in physics, Tom Dreedon, and two people from the Huntington area. Their team took third and was awarded a bronze metal.

Elena Naughton, a Patriot cross country runner participated in the race walking event at the games. In the 5,000 and 10,000 meter walks she placed seventh and ninth respectively.

Gary Westerfield, men's cross country coach decided to take it easy this year, so he was a race walking official. For the past three years, however, he had to assemble the Track and Field teams as Chairman for Long Island.

Former Stony Brook volleyball coach Fran Kalafer was the head volleyball coach for Long Island. Patriot volleyball player Janet Byrnes was on the open volleyball team for Long Island, while her teammate Carol Tompkins was an alternate. For the men's Long Island volleyball team Mark Morman represented Stony Brook.

Soccer Season Opens With Alumni

By Virginia Zafonte

The 13th annual Alumni Soccer game will be held tomorrow at 2 PM on the athletic fields. In their previous 12 games the varsity team won six in which three resulted in ties.

"We're expecting a large turnout of alumni soccer players for Saturday's game. I'm very pleased with the continuation of this fine event over the years," said Jack Guarneri, Chairman of the Alumni Sports Committee."

Most alumni are expected to be returning from the classes of the 1960's.

Bosah Erike's holds the Stony Brook record for most goals in a season. He established his record of 15 goals in 1976. Also attending will be Pete Goldsmith from the class of 1970 who was drafted by the Cosmos.

After the game, a reception will be held for the alumni at the dance studio in the Gymnasium. Most valuable players from each team will be picked then.

"The Alumni Soccer Game continues to be an exciting event for both participants and spectators. This year we're expecting a very large turnout of fans," said Arthur Rothschild, Sports Information Director for Stony Brook.
