SUNY SIDE UP, Jan. 27, 1981

The music is "Sunny Side Up"; the name of the program, SUNY Side Up.

Hi, everybody, This is Al Oickle at the State University of New York, here at Stony Brook. I'll be talking today with Gary Barnes, director of the Department of Public Safety at Stony Brook. It's particularly fitting that ~~Exshaw~~ we should hear from Mr. Barnes today. The spring semester is about to begin, here at Stony Brook. That means more than 15,000 returning students, ~~and more than a few~~ ^{in addition to those} coming to this campus for the first time. ~~That~~ ^{is week} provides an excellent opportunity to review with the director of public safety how a community this large--- more than 20,000 people in all---handles itself and, yes, even ^{how we} help care for each other.

Gary Barnes, being on a large campus like Stony Brook's is nothing new for you, is it.

INTERVIEW: BARNES

WRAPUP:

Next week, we will be taking a sentimental journey ^{with} ~~is~~ another program, here at Stony Brook, that I call, "Farewell to a Campus." My guest will be Antoinette Bosco. Until a few weeks ago, Toni Bosco was the associate director of the University News Services at Stony Brook. When you join us next week at this time, we will be touring the campus with Toni, ~~who spent nearly 10~~ ^{who spent nearly 10} busy, growth years at the State Univesity. ~~xxxxxx~~ Until then, this is Al Oickle. So long, everybody.
