7. Multi-instrumentalist, singer-songwriter Mark Erelli to perform at The University Cafe Sunday March 28, 2 P.M.

A wizard on the acoustic and electric guitar, mandolin, and lap steel, Erelli is also an extraordinary songwriter, perhaps best known for "The Only Way," recorded by Ellis Paul and Vance Gilbert.

He was the only American invited to participate in "The Darwin Song Project", a collaborative album with stellar British artists to celebrate Darwin's 200th Birthday."

His new album, "Little Vigils" joins seven earlier albums in showcasing a broad range of musical interests even including western swing. Erelli often writes hard-hitting songs that (according to the Washington Post) "address tough issues with the grit of John Hiatt and the melancholy beauty of Ron Sexsmith."
