Keeping your Email Secure

One of the ways you keep your Notes account secure is by not sharing your Notes passwords with ANYONE in or outside your department. Computer accounts, passwords, and other types of authorization are assigned to individual users and should not be shared with others, including support personnel. Notes has two passwords, one for your ID file when you access Notes from the Notes client (called the ID password) and one when you access Notes through the Web (called the Internet Password). If you know or suspect that someone else knows your Notes passwords, you can easily change them by CAREFULLY following the instructions on the Web page below:

Come to the Second Annual Stony Brook Fountain Festival As Students, Faculty, and Staff Celebrate the Year of Community Service

Wednesday, May 2, 12:40: p.m.-2:10 p.m.
Join us on the Academic Mall For this special day of food, fun, and festivities.

In its second year, Fountain Fest is already becoming one of the premier events of the spring semester. It's a time when students, faculty, and staff celebrate the return of warmer weather, indulge in strawberry treats, and rediscover a commonality with their fellow campus community members. A host of varied activities, as well as demonstrations by Stony Brook's many clubs and organizations, make it a festive and culturally rich university experience unlike any other.

- Strawberry Fest—Opens at 11 a.m. From shortcake to frappes, indulge in fresh strawberries.
- Diversity Programs—Enjoy "The Color of Helping Hands," a rich, multi-cultural experience, from a variety of student groups.
- Wellness Fair—See sports demonstrations and get free blood pressure screenings.
- WBLI Live Broadcast—Dance to today's hottest hits, win prizes at giveaways.
- Stony Brook Big Band Jazz Ensemble—Hear acclaimed saxophonist Dan

Faulk and his group of talented musicians.

☐ Volunteer Opportunities—Find out how you can make a difference from representatives of local service organizations.

Stony Brook Chorale Concert Saturday, April 28 at Staller Center

On Saturday, April 28th, the Stony Book Chorale will perform at 8:00 p.m. in the Recital Hall at the Staller Center for the Arts. The concert will feature two lesser-known gems of the choral repertoire: Antonio Vivaldi's Magnificat and Josef Rheinberger's Stabat Mater. While many are familiar with Vivaldi's Gloria, the Magnificat is an equally charming work. Josef Rheinberger was a contemporary of Brahms and his Stabat Mater is irresistably lush. Other works on the program

include Beethoven's Elegischer Gesang and folk songs by Bela Bartok.
Admission to the concert is $6 general admission and $3 for students and seniors. Tickets are available at the Staller Center box office:
(631) 632-ARTS. For more information, contact the Music department at

THE FACULTY COLLOQUIUM SERIES at HISB PRESENTS a lecture by Sue

Bottigheimer, Department of Comparative Studies at USB

"Literary Fertility and Narrative Fate: Pregnant Heroines from 1200?1800" Wednesday, April 11, 2001 ? 4:30 p.m. HISB E4340 Library.

Pregnant heroines in stories written in the late medieval and early modern period suffer hardly any ill effects, either personally or narratively; later heroines not only suffer terrible consequences from pregnancies but they fear them inordinately. Dr. Bottigheimer's talk will explore the contrasts, contradictions, and confluences of these characters and their representations.

"Working Class into the Curriculum"
A special workshop sponsored by Group for the Study of Working Class Life and CELT.

What are the links between our students' writing and their consciousness of class difference? How do we use discussion of work/jobs as a route to class analysis?

Professor Janet Zandy, a nationally respected scholar and practitioner of working-class pedagogy, will present a model essay that links photography, personal memory, commentary on Workers

Memorial Day (April 28)and literary analysis about representations of the physicality of labor. One of the hardest things student writers face is synthesizing material. This essay approach demonstrates a way to link the personal with the historical and with cultural representations.
