01. Administrative (dept moves/closes, employee info, Admin announcements)

1. Expansion of Van Service between SBU and BNL

In response to great interest in having easier transportation to Brookhaven National Lab, the VP for Brookhaven Affairs, VP for Research and the Graduate School implemented a van route between the two institutions in December of 2003.

As there has been great demand for this service, we have added a third roundtrip per day beginning on Monday, September 13, 2004.

The current schedule is listed on the VPBA site below.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding the van, please contact Elyce Acierno at 631-632-4360 or via email at Elyce.Acierno@stonybrook.edu.

2. Showcase Your School, Department, or Organization at Wolfstock 2004!

Last year over 3,500 people attended Homecoming. Reserve a table at the University Expo Center and have them visit you! Bring displays, interactive activities and information, have representatives on hand to answer questions...use this space however you want! Tables, table clothes, and chairs will be provided. The Expo Center at Wolfstock will be open on Saturday, October 2, from 11:00am to 2:00pm. For more information, please contact Randy Ng at 632-6330 or randy.ng@stonybrook.edu.

3. Fulbright Application Deadline is Approaching!

This is just a reminder to all graduating seniors and graduate students that the campus deadline to apply for a 2005-2006 Fulbright Scholarship is September 27, 2004!

If you have any questions please contact Efi Spentzos, Fulbright Program Advisor at (631) 632-7031 or at Efi.Spentzos@stonybrook.edu.

4. Changes at the Charles B. Wang Center

Reserving space at the Charles B. Wang Center for events or conferences just became easier with the inauguration of the Wang Automated Reservation System, effective September 7, 2004.

Please go to <http://www.stonybrook.edu/wang> and click on "Online Reservations" to make your reservation request. This innovation has been made possible through a collaborative project comprising the Wang Center Administration, and Melissa Bishop and other DOIT staff members.

Also, effective September 13, the Office of Conferences and Special Events (Wang, rm 302), under the direction of Mr. James Harvey, will be responsible for booking all reservations for the Charles B. Wang Center through the new on-line reservation system. Persons already holding future reservations do not need to re-enter their reservation, but should note the following room number changes. The space you reserved will be the same, but the following number changes apply. Please use the new room numbers in any future correspondence:

Prior to September 7, if you were holding a reservation for a room, the same room is now designated as follows:

Old: 101 - New: 104

Old: 102 - New: 103

Old: 103 - New: 101

Old: 104 - New: 102

Old: 303 - New: 301

Reservations will no longer be taken by telephone commencing September 13. Persons planning Asian and Asian American events are encouraged to discuss their plans first with Wang Center Director of Asian and Asian American Programs Dr. Sunita Mukhi, before requesting space.

All members of the campus community and the larger external community are encouraged to use the Charles B. Wang Center, and to take advantage of its beautiful venue and resources for meetings, events, and conferences. Reservations are on a first come, first served basis, and internal groups or departments can book the Center's space without charge except for food, special A-V, a refundable deposit, and weekend custodial costs. Please watch campus announcements for the opening of Jasmine, the Wang Center's restaurant and catering venue soon.

03. Workshops/Courses/Training (work related; HR, EAP, DoIT, etc...)

1. Employee Assistance Program Lunchtime Learning - How to Know When Your Teen is in Trouble

Every parent worries as his or her children enter the teen years. What behaviors are typical of this time, which are danger signals? Special attention will be paid to depression, anger, eating disorders and substance abuse. Suggestions of ways to constructively intervene will be provided. Date: September 21, 2004, Time: 12:00-1:30 p.m., Location: Student Activities Center (Room to be announced)

To Register: Contact the EAP at 632-6085.

Please feel free to bring your lunch.

Submitted by: Linda Tatem/Pres

2. Do you set-up conference calls?

Telecommunication and Networking (TeLNeT) has noticed an increased volume of conference calls being placed by the University Community and Hospital staff. Many of the conference calls are set up incorrectly when using AT&T, resulting in higher costs being passed on to the end user.

There are reference guides on a Stony Brook web page (see link below) to better help you choose and setup the appropriate type conference call that will meet your needs. You can use the University's telephone system to connect all parties or AT&T Teleconference Services when you want all parties to call into a conference bridge.

TeLNeT will be happy to train you and your staff on the most efficient and cost effective way to set up a conference call. For additional information or to set up a training session call the Telephony Office at 632-9130.

4. Employee Assistance Program Lunchtime Learning - Healthy Boundaries between Parents & Teens

Having healthy boundaries means we are able to connect, in positive ways, what we want as a parent with what the teenager wants.

In doing so, we build mutual consideration and respect.

This workshop will cover when to use boundaries, the characteristics of healthy boundaries, tips and strategies to build a solid relationship with your teenager. A checklist will be distributed to evaluate patterns in your current relationship.

September 23, 2004, SAC Room 311, 12:00-1:30

To Register: Contact the EAP at 632-6085. (Maximum: 15 registrants).

Please feel free to bring your lunch.

4. Control Room (Jehane Noujaim/2004/84 min.) Tuesday, September 28, 7:00 p.m., Wang Center Theatre. Free Students Free, $5 general admission.

A fascinating chronicle of the inner-workings of Al Jazeera, the Arab world's most popular news agency. Roundly criticized by US officials for its alleged anti-American bias, Al Jazeera's coverage of the Iraq War drew worldwide acclaim for its vigor and breadth. This documentary provides a counterpoint to the mainstream American coverage of the Iraq war. Co-sponsored with the Undergraduate College of Global Studies and Social Justice Alliance.
