2. Volunteer Opportunities to Converse with an International Teaching Assistant in our Conversation Partner Program.

Many of our international teaching assistants who are in our ESL Program need to spend more time in English, conversing. Would you consider volunteering 1/2 hour a week and talking with an international PhD student? The program runs through the Linguistics Department and has great potential for improving the English Proficiency on this campus!

Starting the week of 12 February, you can volunteer to converse with an international teaching assistant for a half hour a week.

If interested, you need to e-mail Barbara Brownworth at <Barbara.Brownworth@stonybrook.edu> with your name, the day and half hour slot that you can volunteer.

Then, the week of 12 February you would meet your Conversation Partner at the table outside N-255 in The Social and Behavioral Science Building for the first session. You can then meet anywhere that is convenient for you both.

Questions? E-mail Barbara.

02. Hosp/HSC Admin Announcements

1. Health Sciences Library - New Borrowing Policies

Beginning Tuesday, January 30th, the Health Sciences Library will implement new policies. The policies will create blocks preventing the release of transcripts and/or diplomas. Blocks will be created for delinquent fees, fines and/or unreturned library materials. A block will also be created if library privileges have expired and library materials have not been returned.

Please call the Health Sciences Library Circulation Desk (444-2512) with any questions you may have about the new policies.

3. The Charles B. Wang Center Presents 37 Uses For A Dead Sheep

37 USES FOR A DEAD SHEEP

Monday, February 26, 7pm Wang Theater

If you thought that a dead sheep was just useful for wool and/or a meal, watching this documentary will change your view. This award-winning piece takes a droll and affectionate look at the last hundred years in the history and culture of the Pamir Kirghiz, a tribe originating in Central Asia. Driven out from the USSR, Maoist China, and Afghanistan during the Soviet invasion, the tribe moved nomadically until an appeal for international assistance led them to Eastern Turkey, where they have lived for the last 30 years.

This film is an engaging glimpse into the tribe's past, showing their resilience and humor, and also touching on the younger generation's contrasting hopes for the future.

Tickets: $5.00 General Admission; $4.00 students, seniors, and Port Jefferson Arts Council members. Call (631) 928-9100 or (631) 473-5220.

13. The Charles B. Wang Center Presents Taikoza: Japanese Drums and Music

Saturday, February 24, 8 pm

$10 for students and seniors, $15 for general admission

Like rolling thunder, Taikoza, the internationally renowned performance group, uses the powerful rhythms of the Japanese Taiko drums to take audiences to a new dimension of excitement. Artistic director Marco Lienhard, a Swiss native, brings an electrifying energy to this ancestral form. In the past decade Taikoza has performed at some of the world's most renowned halls including Carnegie Hall, Lincoln Center, Suntory Hall in Tokyo, and Osaka Festival Hall. Innovating on a Japanese tradition of music and performance, Taikoza creates a new sound using a variety of drums of assorted sizes, and Japanese wood winds - the shakuhachi, and the fue. Brace yourself for a powerful performance!

An East Wind Production.

2. Menopause - An Integrative Approach to Management

The Division of Wellness and Chronic Illness in the Department of Preventive Medicine Services at Stony Brook University Medical Center will be presenting a series of three, two-hour group sessions on menopause.

Each participant will be examined and evaluated individually in order to assess their specific menopausal symptoms and avenues of treatment.

The physiological symptoms of menopause, such as hot flashes, insomnia, cognitive difficulties, etc. will be discussed in detail. We will also explore the cultural attitudes associated with this transition and learn about several approaches to ease symptoms including hormone therapy (conjugated estrogen and bioidentical hormones), herbal remedies, nutritional medicine, exercise, and mind/body techniques such as breathing and meditation techniques.

The series is scheduled for February 28, March 7, 14, 2007 at 33 Research Way, Stony Brook Technology Park between 4:30 and 6:30 p.m.

Most insurance plans accepted with appropriate co-payment for each visit.
