4. Creating a Culture of Excellent Customer Service-Part I

All customer interactions have an impact on the perception of your organization. Excellent customer service is more than just employees smiling and making eye contact. It is an all-encompassing approach to making excellent service delivery part of the culture of your area. Everything a customer sees, hears or touches impacts the experience.

Key Highlights:

Identify customer expectations and needs using active listening techniques.

Learn how to create a culture of service excellence for your internal and external customers.

Develop solutions to more challenging and difficult customer service situations.

Identify ways to create more customer-friendly processes.

This is a two-part workshop. Part II to be held on March 21st, same time and place.

Attendance is required for both Part I and Part II

11. Women's Studies Job Candidate Speaker: Dr. Drucilla Barker, Director of Women's Studies, Prof. of Economics, Hollins University, Roanoke, VA

Beyond Women and Economics:

Rereading Caring Labor

Caring labor-attending to the physical and emotional needs of others-is seen as the quintessential form of women's work. This paper argues that feminist discourses on caring labor that do not disrupt this image mask the constitutive roles played by race, ethnicity, class, and nation in the notion of care.

Areas of Specialization: Feminist economics; women's and gender studies; feminist methodology; international political economy; history of economic thought; women and development

Objective: The aim of The Karma of War is to reflect on the importance of our actions in the contemporary panorama of violence from a multiplicity of perspectives by means of art works that dwell on the relations between karma and war. The works will be exhibited in the lobby of the Wang Center. For this evening of screenings The Karma of War is looking to expand its international network of artists working with video. All artists working in this media are invited to submit work to be part of The Karma of War. All submitted materials will be evaluated for inclusion, however, only selected pieces will be screened. Carla Macchiavello will be responsible for the selection of all video entries and will curate the selections.
