1. EAP Lunchtime Learning - How to Care for Others While Taking Care of Yourself

At some point in life, many employees will be called upon to become primary caregivers for aging parents, other relatives or friends. It can be helpful to know at this stressful time what the daily functions of caregiving entail, helpful ways to structure your time, ways to enlist the assistance of others, and what community resources are available for the provision of concrete services and support.

Presenter, Donna Buehler, Director, EAP
November 13th, 11:30-12:30, HSC, L3, Classroom 171

2. EAP Lunchtime Learning - How Does Credit Affect Your Everyday Life Presented by American Debt Resources, Inc

This interactive workshop will address the necessity of having good credit and how it applies to more than just obtaining a loan or a credit card. We will discuss how to receive and read a free credit report from all three of the major credit bureaus. The tools will be given to you on how to track your spending patterns on a daily and monthly basis. When you use your credit cards we will address what are the right ways to charge and the correct ways to pay. We will discuss the psychological spending patterns of consumers and how your creditors target those patterns. All educational material will be provided for you at no cost to further assist you in obtaining and keeping good credit.

November 8th, 11:30-12:20, HSC, L2, Classroom 108

3. EAP Lunchtime Learning - How to Use Your Credit Cards Wisely During this Holiday Season, presented by American Debt Resources

This workshop will cover how holiday spending and aggressive marketing can entice consumers to spend more than they can afford. We will discuss the psychological spending patterns of consumers during this time of the year and all year round.

The use of credit cards and their minimum monthly payment calculations are broken down to reveal the reason for the extremely long payoffs. We will discuss the tools for smart spending to understand that we sometimes have a false impression of what it will take to pay off these bills in a reasonable amount of time.

A real world exercise will be presented to enlighten consumers on how they feel when they use their credit cards compared to when they use cash. This workshop is accompanied with a handout of all the information that will be addressed.

10. Dedication Ceremony for the Pietro di Donato Archive on Thursday, November 8 at 4 p.m.

The Center for Italian Studies and the University Libraries will host a dedication celebration for the archive of Pietro di Donato on Thursday, November 8 at 4 p.m. Di Donato, an American writer often referred to as the grandfather of Italian American literature, reached widespread popularity with his first novel Christ in Concrete (1939). This book was chosen for the Book of the Month Club, edging out John Steinbeck's The Grapes of Wrath, which was published the same year.

Speakers at the event include scholars Fred Gardaphe and Louise Napolitano, filmmaker Joseph di Pasquale, and di Donato's sons, Pietro and Richard. The archive includes manuscripts, notebooks, newspaper clippings, books, publications, and photographs.

All are invited. Reception to follow.

14. "A Feminist Farewell to Richard Rorty." Lecture by Sharyn Clough, Oregon State University. November 8th, 4-6PM, Old Chemistry 118.

Sharyn Clough will be discussing the philosophical work of Richard Rorty. She states that one worry for feminist philosophers is that his claim about epistemic justification seems to undercut any normative force that can be brought to bear in support of his claim about progressivist politics. She argues that our progressivist politics do, in fact, need some epistemic support as an objective guard against relativism. She will address questions of emphasis and strategy that arise in Rorty's work, and for feminists especially, she considers the aspects of Rorty's legacy we might want to support, and which we might want more actively to resist.

Sharyn Clough is an associate professor of philosophy at Oregon State University. Her research focuses on the relationship between objectivity and values in science.

4. NetAnatomy Free Trial

The Health Sciences Library is pleased to announce a 90-day trial to NetAnatomy. NetAnatomy is designed to teach human anatomy to students of the health professions, including undergraduate medical, health sciences, and nursing students. It also serves as a place to review anatomy after one's initial exposure to the subject, e.g. students beginning a clinical rotation, USMLE (National Board) preparation, etc. The authors and contributors of NetAnatomy have extensive experience teaching medical and health sciences students, with years of experience refined and adapted to contemporary medical and health sciences curricula. This product is a continuously evolving website, with current development efforts focused on Gross Anatomy. Access this database from the library's list of Databases. We welcome your comments, contact Julitta Jo at 444-3688 or julitta.jo@stonybrook.edu with your evaluation.

5. I-Land Talk story, Hula, and Hip Hop

I Land is Keo Woolford's hilarious search for the meaning and relevance of his heritage amidst backyard parties, Hollywood kitsch, the realm of the sacred, and the varied places where hula lives. From his high school days with a "Hula God" to his tour in a famous boy band, Woolford's account will keep you enthralled. Combining elements of traditional Hawaiian hula, Hip-Hop, Hawaiian talk story, and spoken word, I Land tells a funny, defiant, unforgettable, even transcendent, tale where worlds separated by geography and culture collide. I Land was created by Keo Woolford in collaboration with director Roberta Uno. Choreography by Robert Cazimero and Rokafella.

7. Film:Tokyo Story (Tokyo monogatari)

Yasujiro Ozu's Tokyo Story (Tokyo Monogatari) follows an aging couple, Tomi and Sukichi, on their journey from their rural village to visit their two married children in bustling, post-war Tokyo. Their reception is disappointing: too busy to entertain them, their children send them off to a health spa. After Tomi falls ill, she and Sukichi return home, while the children, grief-stricken, hasten to be with her. From a simple tale unfolds one of the greatest of all Japanese films. Starring Ozu regulars Chishu Ryu and Setsuko Hara, the film reprises one of the director's favorite themes that of generational conflict in a way that is quintessentially Japanese and yet so universal in its appeal that it continues to resonate as one of cinema's greatest masterpieces. Co-sponsored by the Japan center.

9. Aboriginal Australian Film: Ten Canoes

Ten Canoes tells a traditional Aboriginal story. A thousand years ago, Dayindi, an Aborigine on his first goose egg hunting expedition, fancies the third and youngest wife of his older brother. In response, Minyugululu, the older brother, decides to tell Dayindi a long ancestral story about a similar situation that tore two brothers apart. The film, which weaves the goose egg hunt, filmed in black and white, with the ancestral tale, filmed in color, features the same actors in the two stories and ends with a reconciliation between the brothers as Dayindi learns his lesson. (Directed by Rolf de Heer, 2006, 92 min.) In English with Ganalbingu subtitles. Part of the Our Way art exhibit.

10. Film:Tokyo Story (Tokyo monogatari)

Yasujiro Ozu's Tokyo Story (Tokyo Monogatari) follows an aging couple, Tomi and Sukichi, on their journey from their rural village to visit their two married children in bustling, post-war Tokyo. Their reception is disappointing: too busy to entertain them, their children send them off to a health spa. After Tomi falls ill, she and Sukichi return home, while the children, grief-stricken, hasten to be with her. From a simple tale unfolds one of the greatest of all Japanese films. Starring Ozu regulars Chishu Ryu and Setsuko Hara, the film reprises one of the director's favorite themes that of generational conflict in a way that is quintessentially Japanese and yet so universal in its appeal that it continues to resonate as one of cinema's greatest masterpieces. Co-sponsored by the Japan center.

11. Kinsmen/Svajanam Jazz Saxophone and South Indian Classical Music

Two masters of the alto saxophone one a living legend of South Indian Carnatic music and the other a fiercely innovative Indian American jazz musician present a cross-cultural, intergenerational collaborative work. A recognized innovator, Kadri Gopalnath has introduced and adapted a relatively new western instrument to the traditions of Indian Carnatic music.

Drawing on his Indian ancestry and using American jazz as his foundation, Rudresh Mahanthappa fuses a myriad of contemporary and traditional influences into his highly improvisational work. The two are joined by the Dakshina Ensemble with violin, guitar/sitar-guitar, mridangam (barrel drum), bass, and drum-set.

Tickets: $10 for students & seniors; $15 general admission; $25 VIP.

12. The Department of Theatre Arts Long Island Play Project presents bobrauschenbergamerica by Charles L. Mee

Performances are November 8-18, 2007 in Theatre One of the Staller Center for the Arts;
Thursday-Saturday at 8 pm and Sunday at 2 pm.

"Made as if one of America's greatest artists, Robert Rauschenberg might have conceived it had he been a playwright," Charles L. Mee describes the play as "a collage of people and places and jokes and music and dancing, of love stories and picnics and business schemes and shootings, and chicken jokes and golfing, and the sheer exhilaration of living in a country where people make up their lives as they go."

Tickets are $12 general admission and $7 for students with ID, and are available at the Staller box office or by calling 632-ARTS.

There will be a post-show discussion following the Sunday, November 11th matinee performance of bobrauschenbergamerica.
