Message from the Director on Praveen Chaudhari's Passing

All,

I regret having to share with you some very sad news - former Lab Director Praveen Chaudhari died last night at home, after a long battle with cancer.

Praveen truly left his mark on this Laboratory. He helped guide Brookhaven through some very challenging times, and he did it with pride and integrity. He is largely responsible for putting the Laboratory on a path that led directly to the vision we're following today - one that has resulted in numerous successes, including the construction of the Center for Functional Nanomaterials and the award of the NSLS-II project.

Even after stepping down, Praveen remained active in several research projects here. His insight and intellectual curiosity will be sorely missed.
