Subject Search Underway for Dean of CAS

Colleagues,

As I announced last spring, I have put together a committee to lead the search for the position of Dean, College of Arts & Sciences. The committee has started its work, advertisements for the position have begun to appear, and the committee will be reviewing applications as they are received.

I once again urge your participation and invite you to send nominations for the position to Professor Jeffrey Segal, chair of the search committee. Input from across campus is welcomed and candidates under serious consideration will be meeting with the search committee, administrators, staff, and a wide representation of faculty from CAS and other areas.

Thank you,
Robert McGrath,
Provost and Exec. Vice President for Academic Affairs
