Subject 3 Upcoming Lectures

Colleagues,

I am pleased to announce three lectures for the coming week.

On Tuesday, November 19th, the Provost's Lecture Series continues with a presentation by William H. Durham, University Fellow, Bing Professor of Human Biology, and Professor of Anthropological Sciences at Stanford University. "Conservation Crisis in the Galapagos: Fishing for Solutions" will be presented at 4:30 pm in SAC 302.

On Thursday, November 21st Stony Brook's Robert Crease will speak on "Shatterer of Worlds: the Life and Career of J. Robert Oppenheimer." 4:30 p.m. Harriman Hall 137.

And on Friday, November 22nd, Stony Brook Manhattan hosts a Stony Brook-Yale Faculty Seminar on the Americas featuring Moises Naim, a prolific Venezuelan Political Scientist, as he presents "Five Wars" which concerns the untraditional challenges to US global dominance: movements of drugs, intellectual property, money, weapons and people. This event begins at 4 pm at Stony Brook Manhattan, 401 Park Avenue South at 28th Street.

Please pass this along to any students you feel may be interested in attending these events.

Thank you,
Robert McGrath, Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs
