To: All Faculty, Staff and Students:

The Provost's Lecture Series is pleased to host a talk by Mark Mitton.

Mark Mitton is a professional magician who is fascinated by using magic to better understand how we see the world. In addition to creating magic for film, television, the Broadway stage, and Cirque du Soleil, Mitton tirelessly explores the theme of perception from an interdisciplinary standpoint.

He has presented 'Perception' at the Association for the Scientific Study of Consciousness conference in Berlin, at Columbia University, New York University, Middlebury College, and Brooklyn College, and has lectured with Nobel laureate Dr. Gerald Edelman of the Neurosciences Institute. Mitton frequently moderates panel discussions on topics such as 'The five Senses' and 'Deception' at the Philoctetes Center.

Mitton will present his lecture entitled "Eye on the Ball: An Exploration of Trust and the Motion/Emotion Connection" on Wednesday, December 8, from 4:00 PM to 6:00 PM in Humanities Institute, Lecture Hall Room 1006. Please pass along this information to any students or community members you feel may be interested in this special event. Seating for the lecture is limited and on a first- come basis.

This lecture is co-sponsored by the John Templeton Foundation.

Best,
Eric
