To: All Faculty:

The undergraduate colleges, established over the last seven years, have become a major component in Stony Brook's successful drive to improve our undergraduate students' experience and have also been a factor in our ability to attract increasingly high-quality entering first-year students every year.

The commitment and creativity of the senior faculty members who have served as college faculty directors have been key to building a strong foundation for this initiative. We recently learned, to our great regret, that Sandy Petrey, the faculty director of the College of Arts, Culture, and Humanities, will be unable to continue as director this coming academic year. We are therefore seeking nominations for this position. Please contact me for further information or discussion.
