

To All Faculty & Staff

Dear Colleagues,

The Provost's Lecture Series in conjunction with Earthstock is please to host a talk by the Honorable Claudine Schneider.

A former Congresswoman from Rhode Island, serving from 1980-1990, Ms. Schneider has focused her career on the environment and energy conservation. She was the author of the first Global Warming Prevention Act, passed in 1988 and currently acts as an independent consultant working with the Environmental Protection Agency, the Department of Energy and numerous Fortune 500 companies to implement policy for the reduction of green gases.

Ms. Schneider will give a lecture entitled: "Solutions to Climate Change" this Friday, April 20, 2007 at 7:30 PM in the Student Activities Center, Ballroom A. For additional Earthstock activities, please visit <http://www.stonybrook.edu/sb/earthstock/>.

Please pass along this information to any students or community members you feel may be interested in attending.
