There is a new Battery Recycling Station located in the Student Center. Batteries are an essential part of our life. Whether disposable or rechargeable, batteries can be found in many electronic devices and systems that we use and can't seem to do without any longer. Cell phones, personal computers, and many hand tools, operate on batteries or battery back-up devices. The convenience of the battery is portability. The danger of the battery is the potential for environmental harm. Current battery technology often incorporates the use of a variety of toxic metals (e.g., lead, mercury, cadmium) and/or corrosive chemicals (e.g., sulfuric acid) to make batteries function. Please be sure to recycle your old batteries!
