SOUTHAMPTON WRITERS CONFERENCE
 KICKS OFF WITH AMAZING ADAPTATIONS
 AND TWO EVENTS FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y., June 26, 2009 – Amazing adaptations, fanciful family poetry and lullabies with Julie Andrews and the resplendent musical debut of Flat Stanley Lambchop...

The written word takes center stage as the acclaimed Southampton Writers Conference, sponsored by Stony Brook Southampton's MFA in Writing and Literature program, kicks off with three exciting events that are opened to the public.

A panel on Adaptation with Pulitzer Prize winner Marsha Norman and writer/director and iTheatrics CEO Tim McDonald is on Thursday, July 9, followed by two events for kids and adults alike on Friday, July 10, and Saturday, July 11: the Hamptons premiere of "The Musical Adventures of Flat Stanley" and "A Celebration of Poetry for the Entire Family" with Andrews, her daughter and author/faculty member Emma Walton Hamilton and celebrated Broadway artist James McMullan.

All events are at 7:30 p.m. in the beautifully renovated Avram Theater. Weekday evening events are $25/$10 for seniors, students and Stony Brook University faculty and staff. Tickets to Saturday evening events are $35/$10. For box office information, call 631-632-5152 or visit www.stonybrook.edu/avram.

Now entering its fourth decade, the Conference is well-known for providing a forum for authors of all genres to study and discuss the craft of writing under the guidance of some of the most respected members of the industry – and this year's line-up of esteemed faculty members and guest participants is no exception.

The Conference is taking place from July 8 – August 2. A select number of special events will be opened to the public, including:

Thursday, July 9th

7:30 p.m. Avram Theater

Adaptation Panel

Pulitzer Prize winner Marsha Norman and writer/director and iTheatrics CEO Tim McDonald.

Marsha Norman was awarded the Pulitzer Prize, Susan Smith Blackburn Prize, Hull-Warriner, and Drama Desk Awards for 'Night Mother; a Tony Award and Drama Desk Awards for The Secret Garden; and the John Gassner Medallion, Newsday Oppenheimer award, and the American Theatre Critics Association Citation for Getting Out. Other plays include Third and Oak, The Laundromat, The Poolhall, The Holdup, Traveler in the Dark, Sarah and Abraham, Loving Daniel Boone, and Trudy Blue. She also wrote the book for The Color Purple, currently on Broadway. Published work includes Four Plays and a novel, The Fortune Teller. Television and film credits include Face of a Stranger, starring Gena Rowlands and Tyne Daley. Norman is co-chair, with Christopher Durang, of the Playwriting Department of the Juilliard School and vice president of the Dramatists Guild of America.

Timothy A. McDonald is a respected director and playwright (Roald Dahl's Willy Wonka, The Ant and the Elephant, The Musical Adventures of Flat Stanley) and CEO of the New York-based educational musical theatre consulting company iTheatrics. Tim directed sold-out performances of The Phantom Tollbooth at The Kennedy Center and served as playwright and director for the Kennedy Center-commissioned production of Roald Dahl's Willy Wonka in 2004, which subsequently toured the United States for two seasons. Tim is currently developing a stage version of the classic James and the Giant Peach, which will be performed with the prestigious Pilobolus Dance Company, and is the co-playwright of the stage production of Jim Henson's Emmet Otter, which had its world premiere at Goodspeed Musicals in November 2008. Prior to founding his company, iTheatrics, Tim created and developed Music Theatre International (MTI) Education, the first educational division in a major musical theatre-licensing firm. For ten years Tim worked side-by-side with theatrical greats (including Cameron Mackintosh, Stephen Sondheim, Arthur Laurents, Stephen Flaherty, Lynn Ahrens, Stephen Schwartz and Sheldon Harnick) to create age-appropriate versions of classic musicals – such as Les Misérables, Annie, Meredith Willson's The Music Man and Into the Woods - for students to perform, along with corresponding educational materials. While at MTI, Tim also teamed with Disney Theatricals to adapt beloved Disney animation titles – including Aladdin, The Jungle Book, Cinderella, Mulan, and 101 Dalmatians – for the stage, virtually creating the “direct to licensing” musical theatre market. Through iTheatrics' partnership with Stephen Gabriel of Work Light Productions, Tim has developed five new Theatre for Young Audiences touring shows: Broadway Junior on Tour, Disney's Discover Theater!, Frankly Ben, The Musical Adventures of Flat Stanley, and The Ant and the Elephant.

The Musical Adventures of Flat Stanley

Hampton Premiere

Presented by iTheatrics

Written and directed by Tim McDonald

Based on the book series by Jeff Brown

The Southampton Children's Literature Conference, to be held July 8th through the 12th, is delighted to announce the July 10th Hamptons premiere of The Musical Adventures of Flat Stanley. The musical is based on the wildly popular children's book series about Stanley Lambchop, who was an ordinary boy until a bulletin board flattened him into a one-inch being. His world would never be the same: Stanley, sometimes invisible, sometimes in outer space, is always up for adventure. Open to children and adults.

The Last Cargo Cult

Created and Performed by Mike Daisey

Groundbreaking monologist Mike Daisey tells the true-life story of his time on a remote South Pacific island where the inhabitants, who live at the base of a constantly erupting volcano, worship America.

Directed by Jean-Michele Gregory

Mike Daisey has been called “the master storyteller” and “one of the finest solo performers of his generation” by the New York Times for his groundbreaking monologues which weave together autobiography, gonzo journalism, and unscripted performance to tell hilarious and heartbreaking stories that cut to the bone, exposing secret histories and unexpected connections. His monologues, fourteen and counting, include the controversial How Theater Failed America, the six-hour epic Great Men of Genius, the unrepeatably series All Stories Are Fiction, and the international sensation 21 Dog Years. Over the past decade he has performed his unique extemporaneous monologues at venues across America and around the world. He’s been a guest on the Late Show with David Letterman, a contributor to WIRED, Slate and Salon, a web contributor to Vanity Fair and Radar Magazine, and his work has been frequently heard on the BBC and NPR. A feature film of his monologue If You See Something Say Something will be released this year, and he stars in the Lawrence Krauser film Horrible Child. His first book, 21 Dog Years: A Cubedweller’s Tale, was published by the Free Press and he is working on a second book, Great Men of Genius, adapted from his monologues about genius and megalomania in the lives of Bertolt Brecht, P.T. Barnum, Nikola Tesla, and L. Ron Hubbard. He has been nominated for the Outer Critics Circle Award, two Drama League Awards, and has been the recipient of the Bay Area Critics Circle Award, three Seattle Times Footlight Awards, and a MacDowell Fellowship. He lives in New York City with his director and collaborator, Jean-Michele Gregory.
