SB Students Protest Apartheid 200 Students March to Divest SUNY Ties to South Africa

By Walter Fishon

To the chant of "SUNY, you know, apartheid has got to go" approximately 200 people rallied and held an anticipated sit in at the Stony Brook administration building. The campus group, the United Front organized the sit-in rally to protest the SUNY system's investment in corporations that are engaged in business with the government of South Africa.

"We can't be in Albany," said Stony Brook senior Sharon King, spokeswoman for the United Front, "so we expect the administration to show Albany that Stony Brook is no longer accepting this, SUNY's involvement with corporations who participate in the racist government."

The SUNY system, comprised of 64 campuses, has $14 million invested in 7 companies that were in some way connected to South Africa. On April 24, the SUNY Board of Trustees voted to sell $3.1 million dollars of stock from four companies: Motorola, American International Group Inc., Johnson Controls Inc., and Philbro Solomon. The board voted to maintain its investment with all other South African-connected companies.

The major companies that have some ties to South Africa and do business with SUNY are Coca-Cola, Nabisco, Exxon, Colgate, Kraft, Tampax and Bristol Meyers. King said that if people do not wish to participate in the protest, they can help by refusing to buy any of the products produced by these companies.

Although Stony Brook is not involved with any of the companies, the university is part of the SUNY system and this is what resulted in the outrages of yesterday's protesters. "I think indirectly we are causing South Africa," said student Kiki Gbeho, "It's our tuition money!"

Stony Brook was not the only SUNY university to have protests against the systems "involvement." Students from the SUNY system participated in the organized rally. No more than 100 demonstrators were reported at separate protests of the other campuses.

The demonstration at Stony Brook began yesterday around noon, as no more than a rally outside the Administration building. Approximately 50 students and professors gathered in the rain to air their grievances about SUNY's involvement with corporations dealing with South Africa.

"Many people say that the U. S. pullout is not going to be helpful," said Professor Les Owen of Africana Studies. Owen explained that South Africa is a major producer of computers, petroleum products and has one of the largest mining systems in the world. "South Africa produces 80% of the world's gold," he said, "and the United States is one-third investor in it. Don't tell me backing out won't help!"

Michael Zweig, a professor from the department of economics expressed enthusiasm that student activism is on the rise again. "Don't stop at being sick in the heart," he told the assembled crowd.

The demonstrators were informed by Andrew Collver, a sociology professor, that all the faculty members of the SUNY system receive their pension fund from the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association, (TIAA) a company which to date has holdings

Freshman Applications Decline for Fall '85

By Rachel Pine

Stony Brook has experienced a decline in the number of applications for freshmen admissions for the fall, 1985 semester, according to the university's Office of Undergraduate Admissions.

Daniel Frisbie, the director of Undergraduate Admissions for Stony Brook, said that while the number of applications to all SUNY schools in general has decreased, Stony Brook is experiencing a slightly larger decrease.

Raymond Yusco, of Institutional Studies for the university, said that Stony Brook received 11,999 freshmen applications for the fall of 1984. As compared with the 10,549 applications that have been received for the fall of 1985. According to Frisbie, this shows approximately a 12 percent decrease between the two years.

This number is higher than the approximately 10 percent drop in applications that was experienced by the three other University Centers of SUNY, (Buffalo, Albany, and Binghamton) according to Frisbie.

Frisbie said that the most obvious reason for the decline in applications was the "general decline in high school graduates across the country." Frisbie said that the average number of people in a high school graduating class has gotten smaller in the past several years.

Harold Lehrman, the Assistant Principal of Peter S. Stuyvesant High School in Manhattan, which had the most applications to Stony Brook this year, said that "Stony Brook's proximity to the city is possibly a disadvantage. Young people want to go away." Lehrman also said that many students would rather go to Albany or Binghamton than Stony Brook, because they feel that they are academically better universities.

Frisbie agreed with Lehrman's idea that students want to live far away from home in many cases. "Unfortunately, many students are willing to sacrifice Stony Brook's academic strength in order that they may live far away from their home," he said.

Phillippe Steinetz, a student at the Bronx High School of Science who was accepted to Stony Brook but will not be attending, said that, "Stony Brook people are not the cream of the crop."

Dona Schwab, the college coordinator of Bronx Science, which had the second highest number of applications to Stony Brook, said that she is "quite positive towards the SUNY system." Although she said that on the whole, "There are more kids who are just not going to college," she cited what she termed "bad press" about Stony Brook in newspapers recently. She included the recent settlement for $400,000 to a woman who was raped on the campus in 1975, the need for the creation of a new dormitory security patrol, and the loss of Lasker Award-winning scientist Paul Lauterbur to the University of Illinois.

Schwab also said that another reason she feels students don't want to go to Stony Brook is the school's tripling policy of freshmen. She said that while other schools triple freshmen "apologetically," tripling is another practice that is sometimes the only way for students to get housing at Stony Brook.

Frisbie said that while Stony Brook houses about 7,000 people, making it the largest residential SUNY, "the demand exceeds the capacity."

Another example of demand exceeding supply at Stony Brook is the competition for seats in the School of Engineering. "There is a tremendous demand for engineering programs," Frisbie said, and access to the engineering school has been limited since 1981.

According to Frisbie, the number of students who want to be engineers doubled between 1976 and 1981. "Having limited space when the demand is greatest has been a large problem for Stony Brook, he said. He added that the engineering laboratories and faculty are simply not large enough to accommodate the masses of students who are looking for an engineering degree from Stony Brook.

Senate Slows Defense Rise

Washington— A rebellious Senate voted yesterday to pare the administration's defense buildup by $17.7 billion over three years and provide full cost of living benefits to federal retirees as it methodically shredded a multibillion-dollar deficit reduction package endorsed by President Reagan.

"For once, grassroots America has won out over the military industrial complex," said Sen. Charles Grassley, R—Iowa, as he and Sen. Mark Hatfield of Oregon won approval for their plan to hold the 1985 rise in Pentagon spending constant with inflation.

The Pentagon buildup has "created a new set of welfare queens—defense contractors," said Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D—Ohio. Even with the change, defense spending would rise by about $20 billion next year.

The 80-18 vote restoring full retirement benefits for civil service and military workers as well as veterans was expected, coming one day after the Senate voted to scrap a proposed curtailment of Social Security benefits.

It left the original Republican budget in tatters, with further efforts likely to restore proposed cuts in Medicare and Medicaid and numerous other federal programs.

Even so, Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole vowed to "revisit" several of the programs already voted on, and said that rather than spelling the end of efforts to reduce federal deficits, "I think it's just the beginning."

But at the same time, he served notice on the president, attending an economic summit meeting in West Germany, that "we made our best effort and now we have to try something different" than the original approach that provided a 3 percent after-inflation increase for defense, and cut deeply into many domestic programs.

In voting for what Hatfield termed a "historic" change in defense, the Senate spurned a trans-Atlantic lobbying campaign by the traveling president. And Dole apparently considered seeking to reverse the vote, only to drop the idea because he noted it was "five minutes after midnight in Bonn, too late for calls to come over."

Five NY Police Indicted

New York— Five policemen, including a supervisor of officers' conduct, were indicted by a grand jury in a series of beatings and tortures in a Queens precinct that forced a high-level shakeup in the Police Department, it was announced yesterday.

The indictment charged Lt. Steven Cheswick, integrity control officer of the 105th Precinct, and four other officers with beating four drug suspects. All but Cheswick also were accused of prodding suspects with an electric stun gun.

The beatings took place on a street, in a police car and in one of the victim's homes, and the electric shocks were administered in the stationhouse, according to the indictment.

District Attorney John Santucci said the grand jury returned the indictments despite the refusal of the officers' colleagues to testify.

"I am not satisfied that we have done everything...to get to the root of these cases," Santucci said. "But I was unable under the current law to call officers before the grand jury to compel testimony without giving immunity from prosecution." Police Commissioner Benjamin Ward said there was "very little evidence that police officers have come forward. Even when they're disgusted, they have not...sought to cooperate." "Maybe they don't know anything," Ward said. "I think some of them do."

Santucci said that although the case remained open, further arrests were not imminent. Santucci and police also were trying to learn yesterday if it was an unmarked police car that hit an 11-year-old girl on a bicycle outside her home and drove away, leaving her slightly injured.

Witnesses to the accident Saturday said a car with a red flasher on the dashboard hit the girl in front of her home as she was riding her bicycle, stopped for a brief moment and then drove away. In the 105th case, Sgt. Richard Pike and Officers Loren MacCary and Jeffrey Gilbert were indicted on charges of assault, possession of a weapon, coercion, attempted coercion, misconduct and conspiracy. Officer Michael Aranda faced the same charges, except for coercion, and Cheswick was charged with assault, weapons possession, misconduct and conspiracy.

S. Africa Sanctions Passed

Washington— The Democratic-controlled House Foreign Affairs Committee voted 26-6 yesterday to impose new economic sanctions against South Africa and its system of racial apartheid.

The legislation—opposed by the Reagan administration— would prohibit new U. S. investment and loans in South Africa. It would also suspend the sale of American computers to South Africa and shut off imports to the United States of an estimated $600 million in South African gold coins called Krugerrands.

All six "no" votes came from Republicans who argued that rather than encourage improved race relations in South Africa, the sanctions would worsen conditions for the black majority there. A watered-down Republican version condemning apartheid and setting up a commission to investigate conditions in South Africa was rejected 19-4.

The Democratic measure now goes to the House floor where speedy consideration is likely, possibly before the end of May. Similar legislation is pending in the Republican-controlled Senate, which is likely to debate the issue by mid-summer. The United States has previously cut off military sales to South Africa, and the country is ineligible for loans from the Export-Import Bank.

But the recent violence and increasing racial tensions in South Africa have made it more likely that Congress will enact tougher measures this year.

Rep. Stephen Solarz, D—N. Y., said the sanctions are needed because the Reagan administration's policy of quiet diplomatic pressure has failed to get the South African government to share political and economic power with blacks.

Report Cites SAB Violations

By Jeff Leibowitz

The Internal Affairs Committee of Polity has issued a report on their six week investigation of the Polity Student Activities Board (SAB). The report states that certain members of SAB have violated Polity guidelines, university regulations, and New York State law. Fred Preston, vice president of Student Affairs held a meeting yesterday where he discussed the possible revision of SAB's existing guidelines with student leaders including Polity President Rory Aylward and President Elect, Eric Levine.

The report, made by the Internal Affairs Committee (IAC) divides the SAB violations into five main categories: Improper hiring practices, T shirt sales, Misuse of Student /Activity Funds, improper documenting of events, and misuse of liquor licenses.

One SAB Chairman Frank Januszewski feels that no light is being shed on the positive aspects of SAB. "No one criticizes the fact that we've turned over $350,000 dollars this year from successful events.

"Most people pick up a copy of the paper, read a few sentences and just believe it to be true. It hurts to see an organization abused in this way."

According to the report, hiring practices must follow procedures prescribed by the University's Equal Opportunity Affirmation Action guidelines. The report states, "The SAB Executive Board has not followed the guidelines that are provided...A Tokyo Joe's events on February 8, 1985 and March 1, 1985, beer servers were employed. Vouchers paying these employees clearly show that 13 of 15 employees from one event and 14 of 16 employees from another reside in Irving, O'Neill or Gray colleges of G-Quad."

Attached to the report are three liquor licenses which the report says have been forged. It states "Evidence has been received indicating that members have forged liquor licenses. The process involved the photocopying of a legitimate license, whitening out information, writing in new information, and photocopying again."

The report states that SAB has improperly documented events, it says "SAB has turned in more money than they actually recorded. This clearly shows that SAB's documents are incorrect."

Director Cancels 'Hardcore' Event

By Jeff Leibowitz

"Freelance" a Hardcore music festival scheduled for May 10 has been cancelled by William Fornadel, the Student Union Director.

Fornadel allegedly cancelled the event because he considered it to be "possibly violent," although he refused to comment last night.

The last Hardcore event held on March 3, and coordinated by the Student Activities Board (SAB), did not result in any injuries, according to Pheobe Espiritu, the show's promoter. This show, sponsored by the Musical Appreciation Society, was to feature six live bands and was not billed as a dance. "For one thing it is a show, it is not slam dancing. The bands do play music which is conducive to slam dancing," Espiritu said. She added that her main objection to the move to cancel the show was the lack of notice.

"Tickets have already been sold. Contacts have been made. It's too late to cancel now," Espiritu said. "Even if we do, it will result in a more hazardous situation. These people are going to be loitering around campus trying to find something to do," she said, adding that about six hundred and fifty people were expected to attend.

Espiritu said that three meetings have already been held with the events coordinator and Fornadel, and that Fornadel's reasons were off base. "They were citing incidents like people jumping off tables, and they said that we had six kegs," Espiritu said. "There were no tables in the room to jump off of and we only had one keg."

Espiritu said that Sam Taube, assistant vice president for student affairs, claimed public safety told him the event was hazardous and should not be held. Espiritu said that she was told the last event was well behaved by an officer on public safety.

Divestment Demanded

in South Africa.

"The TIAA has $19 billion invested in South Africa!" exclaimed Colver. He went on to say that if the SUNY system pulled out of TIAA, it would make a dramatic difference. After several other speakers, King, stood before the crowd and claimed to be embarrassed for being with the protesters "Our preppy brothers at Columbia have more of a sense of duty (than students at Stony Brook)," she explained. "No one has noticed that the sun is gone and no one has noticed that we're here!"

King went on to explain that University President John Margurger was given a formal invitation to the rally by her, but failed to appear before the protesters. A spokeswoman for Margurger informed the crowd that he was attending a meeting with all SUNY presidents in Cooperstown.

After gaining more protestors, the crowd moved back to the administration building where they were finally met by university Provost Homer Neal and Vice President for Student Affairs, Fred Preston.

"It is important and healthy that the student body air their grievances," Neal said. He went on to explain that Stony Brook has no direct control over the investments the SUNY system has, but the administration can and will let the people in Albany know how they feel. He also added that he finds the concept of apartheid "absolutely repugnant," and that he supported the group's peaceful demonstration.

Preston added that "this is not a political issue, it is an issue of life and death. I support you with every ounce of blood in me," he concluded, "and I am proud."

The protest ended at approximately 4:45 PM when the administration agreed to meet with five representatives from the United Front to hear their grievances, and in turn express them to the Board of Trustees in Albany. That meeting will take place on Monday at 10 AM. Marburger and other high ranking administrators are to be present.

According to King the group will be protesting until three demands are met. One is the complete divestiture of SUNY's holdings of "South African" stock, the granting of tenure to Ernest Dube, (an Africana Studies professor who is from South Africa) and the boycott of any products that are made by companies who have an interest in South Africa.

Divest SB From South Africa

For several weeks now, we have all been hearing about apartheid in South Africa and how something should be done to get American companies, especially those affiliated with SUNY, out of South Africa. Yesterday afternoon a group known as the United Front decided to do something about it.

After a rally in front of the administration building, they marched around the campus gathering people to join in the march. Their demands are simple: They want to divest SUNY from corporations supporting a country that propagates racism.

For some SUNY campuses this would mean drawing up entirely new contracts for the food program. SUNY Binghamton's food program, for example, is run by the Marriott corporation which has many ties to South Africa.

While Stony Brook does not have investments in South Africa, it does carry a full line of products offered by corporations that have ties to apartheid. Among the major ones are Coca Cola, Nabisco, and Kraft. Statesman asks that until the administration of this university develops enough of a conscience to cease to carry these products, students not buy these products.

It may take some time for the administration to overcome their political fears and take action. In the meantime, we urge all staff members to take part in this protest. Concern displayed by professors such as Dr. Richard Solo is a necessity to this cause.

This particular situation is a perfect example of what has to be done to get the attention of the administration. Until they find masses of angry (but peaceful) students banging on their doors, they will continue to tell us where and when we can dance, how much we can drink and where we must live and under what conditions. As long as apathy remains high, the administration will continue to ignore the rights of the students.

A Different Way To Halt Apartheid

To The Editor:

Thursday afternoon I was listening to speakers from the Africa Awareness Rally. The speakers caused me to think more seriously about the issue of divestment.

Perhaps another idea is this: why not reinvest into companies that are dedicated to training people to run their own businesses?

No doubt many of our own SUNY students are majoring in business and business administration. If we are so truly concerned about improving the quality of a people's existence, why not lend education and support to that direction? If we leave altogether, then we have no right or opportunity to voice our concerns or support.

Years ago, many in this country rallied to disassociate from Vietnam. Now, years later, we are kicking ourselves for it. Why go through that again?

As for the gentleman who spoke of Mrs. Bumpers' case: be real, brother. The problem was not as much a case of "moral breakdown in the capitalist system" as it is a moral breakdown in the family system. When he charges that we have to "clean up our own house," he needs to make sure he's talking about the right house.

Deborah Lange

Letter on Bitburg

(The following is a copy of the letter Hillel sent to the president)

Dear President Reagan:

I was shocked and appalled to read in this morning's newspaper that you continue to maintain that your upcoming visit to the German Military Cemetery and Bitburg is "morally right." I think that you have failed to understand the basic difference between war and genocide. I am in agreement with you that the people of the United States and the people of Germany should have a full reconciliation. In this sense, a demonstration of forgiveness toward Germans who fought against us in battle is not morally wrong. To honor a cemetery, however, in which 49 members of the SS are buried is a dishonor both to Germans and to the victims of Nazism. The Germans are not proud of the SS and its crimes. To honor the cemetery in which its "heroes" are buried will only serve to embarrass our ally, the people of West Germany.

Of course, there are no heroes among the SS. They are the fanatical volunteers who carried out the depraved genocidal policies of Nazism against helpless and innocent civilians. Those who died in their hands wore no uniforms and carried no weapons. They were not soldiers who fought for their country, but cold blooded murderers who brutally destroyed one-third of world Jewry, including over one million children. How could you even consider bringing the honor of the American Presidency remotely near to this symbol of death and destruction?

By now you are on your way to Europe. I can only hope that you will change your mind before arriving at Bitburg. In the end of your failure to grasp the real moral issue at hand means that the Foreign Policy of our country is based not on morality, but on some vague notion of who our "friends" are.

Something For Everyone!

By Milou Gwyn

If you're going out to eat with a whole bunch of people and you have to find a restaurant that will please them all, no easy feat. Or you're dating someone for the first time and you have no idea what they like. What's a sure fire restaurant? The answer is Chinese and the restaurant is The Little Mandarins. With 61 entrees there is something for everyone, be it vegetarian, meat, chicken, or seafood lover.

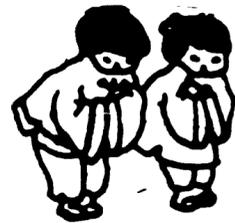

Basic American Chinese favorites are featured here. All are available by the pint or quart to go or to stay. There are seven types of Egg Foo Young and four types of Lo Mein. They all range in price from $2.75 to $3.50 for pints, and $4.75 to $5.95 for quarts.

If you're a little more adventuresome, and I hope you are, you can try some of the Mandarin specials. Some of these are Orange Flavored Chicken, $6.25, Crispy Duckling Szechuan Style, $7.95, Twice-cooked Pork, $6.25, Shanghai Cube Steak, $7.95, and Sauteed River Shrimp, $7.25.

Now, if you're really into Chinese food and you like to get away from the norm, look towards the Chef's Specialties. Dishes listed here include Shrimp with Ginger Garlic Sauce, $8.50, and Sliced Beef and Chicken with Water Cress, $7.95.

These are just a few of the menu offerings. Any Chinese dish you have ever heard of is probably featured at The Little Mandarins. The diversity of the menu is sure to offer something for everyone.

This is the last issue of Fine Dining on Fridays for this semester. I hope it has been a useful and worthwhile feature in Statesman. Any questions, comments, or suggestions of restaurants to feature next semester will be greatly appreciated! Have a great summer!!!

DATE LINE

Important Note! Please put the date of the issue on the envelope of the DateLine you are responding to! Responses to DateLine cost $90 each.

I'm a 5'11" male who isn't gorgeous, rich or going to law school. All I can offer you is affection, laughs, fun. Will you settle? I swear, I don't look like Jabba the Hut, and I could probably splurge for a rose once and a while. Drop me a line, and I'll spare the quarter for the phone call. Reply box 22

So no one likes my datelines. Ha, it's your loss. I'm still open to offers but not from men. If you can find in your heart room enough for a 5'8" guy who's into jumping down flights of stairs on roller skates and sweaty love making then respond. Box 23

5'11" Brunette (OK 5'4") looking for a down to earth guy who is considerate and caring, and who happens to be looking for a girl who doesn't pancake a ton of makeup on her face or constantly looks at herself in the mirror. I enjoy the outdoors, art shows especially in the village and caring a lot about my friends. Box 30

SWM 21, Jewish, 5'5", 125 lbs. Attractive, sensitive, good sense of humor. Looking for sincere, funny 19-23 yr. old SWF to share good times and a meaningful, affectionate relationship. I love theatre, good films, tennis, Freud, Barbara Streisand, and Rod Stewart. I'm warm, sincere, down-to-earth, sometimes cynical. Please respond, I love mail. Reply Box 32

Hi! I don't have a mohawk, I don't have braided armpit hair and I don't eat things that are still crawling on my plate. I do, from time to time, belch out loud and rock the earth off its axis, but hey, I'm human. If you're a normal SWF with an abnormal side, drop me a line. P.S. I ain't rich. Reply Box 30

MALE, 25, HSC Student, tired of the superficial bar scene. Seeking intimacy with mature sophisticated female on all levels; physical, emotional, intellectual, and spiritual. Reply Box 38

19-YEAR-OLD Gentleman, brown hair, sometimes blue eyes sometimes green. — Sweet, gentle and a hopeless romantic who enjoys photography, comic books, old movies and candle lit dinners on the beach, in a park or anywhere for that matter. I'm looking for a lady who is honest, sincere and who enjoys some of the same things that I do. I'm not kidding, this is a serious dateline. Please respond to Box 40.

Quiet, hardworking SWM, 22, looking for a warm smile, a goal in sight, a love of the outdoors and music - in short, an intense communication between two people. Interested in a young woman (18-24) who has self confidence, intelligence and an attractive look. I am the same. Reply Box 7

Interested in meeting sweet, sensitive, caring graduate students or working people between 28-35. Only guys who want to meet a real person, not someone to fool around with. If you'd like a relationship with someone that includes fun but possibly more, I'd like to meet you. You must have a lot of self confidence as this is intriguing to me. I'm tired of going out with people who know nothing about love relationships, except in an intellectual way. Reply Box 13.

Pats Face Drew University in Semifinals

By John Buonora

The Stony Brook Lacrosse team will be the number one seed in the upcoming ECAC Division III playoff, the ECAC selection committee announced Wednesday. This gives Stony Brook the home field advantage for the semi-final game vs. Drew University on Friday. Stony Brook will also be the site of the championship game on Saturday.

"This could be the biggest thing to happen to this program," said head coach John Ziegler. "The only thing that would be bigger, is winning the title." This recognition will bring national attention to Stony Brook, as the ECAC tournament one of the key tournaments in Division III lacrosse. "We're really excited about being the top seed," Ziegler added, "this will help our recruiting, and will give our kids great exposure."

Stony Brook will be facing Drew University of Madison, New Jersey, who finished the season with a 10-4 record. Drew has one common opponent with the Patriots, and that is the tournaments number three seed, SUNY Maritime. Maritime beat Drew by the score of 15-

7. SB defeated Maritime 17-6. Rounding out the field is Fairly Dickenson University. FDU (#2 seed) will play Maritime, at FDU on Friday, with the winner meeting with the SB vs. Drew winner in the tournament championship at 2:00 Saturday.

"We're planning on being in the championship Saturday," said mid-fielder Danny Mc Naughton. "We're ready to go." For the Patriots to get past Drew, they will have to continue playing the type of lacrosse they've played all year. That means tough defense, solid goal-tending, and lots of scoring up front. What the Pats must eliminate are the streaks of inconsistency that have occurred from time to time this season.

The Patriots match up well on paper with Drew, with Drew's leading scorer is John Warrack with 31 goals over 11 games.

What the Patriots will need most is solid performances from the role players. Don McCrea must stay hot in the face-off circle, and the "big stick" team must remain consistent. Role players such as Paul Emmanuel, and Jeff Strumyer, must turn in their quietly strong performances. The key to the game may well be Mc Crea's face-off magic, allowing ball control, so the Pats can set up their offense.

The attack and mid-field must work together to find the open man. When Drew has the ball, the defensive tandem of John Scaduto, Kevin Sheehan and Tom Dolezal must shut the door, and not allow Drew to walk in unmolested for a clean shot.

"This gives us the chance to prove what kind of team we really are," said Emmanuel. Perhaps this tournament will prove to be just that type of outlet, where the Patriots can show everyone exactly how good they can be. Only after two games are won, can the Patriots finally say, "We've finally played our best."

TWEETY'S CAGE— The Patriots will enter the tournament healthy, with the exception of Tom Dolezal. He suffers from olecranon bursitis. If the swelling doesn't go down, he will be questioned doesn't go down, he will be questionable for play Friday and Saturday. This is Stony Brook's first post-season bid in the history of the lacrosse program. Game time Friday is 4:00, Saturday's Championship is at 2:00, regardless of how the Pats fare Friday.

Celtics Victorious

By the Associated Press

Terry Tyler scored 16 of his points in the fourth quarter Thursday night to lead the Detroit Pistons to a 125-117 victory over the Boston Celtics in a National Basketball Association semifinal game.

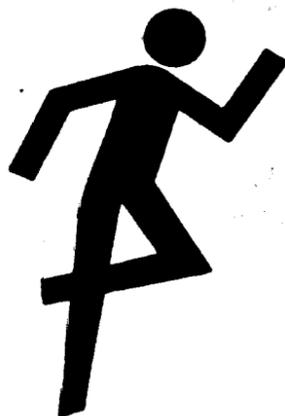

The victory left the Celtics with a 2-1 edge in the best-of-seven Eastern Division series. Game 4 is scheduled for 1PM EDT Sunday in Joe Louis Arena.

The Pistons led 98-96 as the fourth quarter opened and never relinquished the lead. Detroit's Bill Laimbeer, who led the Pistons with 27 points, canned an 18-foot jumper and Vinnie Johnson followed with an alley oop pass from Isiah Thomas to give the Pistons a six-point margin. The Celtics narrowed the Detroit lead to three points on two occasions, but each time Tyler led another surge.

Indeed, the last eight minutes of the final period were all Tyler as he hit the Pistons' final eight field goals, accounting for all Detroit's points except two Laimbeer free throws.

Laimbeer and Boston's Robert Parish got into a shoving match with 7:32 remaining in the third quarter, but nothing came of it and the rest of the game, while rough, was cleanly played.
