

Getting Grant Funding and Getting the Most Out of It: A Three-Part Workshop Series for Graduate Students

Worried about funding your dissertation research?

Looking to build professional skills?

Find out how grants can help you do both—
and learn how to create a successful application.

Organizing a Proposal
Wednesday, Sept. 28
1-2 PM, Humanities 1006

Prof. Robert Crease (Philosophy) and Dr. Michael Hadjiargyrou (Biomedical Engineering) offer insights into organizing and writing an effective grant proposal that engages your reader and reflects the scope of your project.

Getting a Grant and Getting the Most Out of Your Research
Wednesday, Oct. 5
1-2 PM, Humanities 1006

Graduate students who have recently won major grant funding present suggestions for framing proposals effectively, identifying the right grant opportunities, and for preparing for a positive experience during your research.

How to Write a Grant Budget
Wednesday, Oct. 12
1-2 PM, Humanities 1006

Jin Bentley (OVPR and formerly OSP) offers guidance on creating a realistic budget proposal that will reflect the scope of your project and estimate costs accurately.

RSVP requested. Please email khartfor@notes.cc.sunysb.edu to register for these workshops.
Please include the title of the workshop in your subject line.