

STONY BROOK UNIVERSITY'S CHARLES B. WANG CENTER PRESENTS

JOURNEYS

Soh Young Lee & Friends

Soprano Soh Young Lee takes a musical journey around the globe, with an eclectic repertoire of opera, art song, folk music, and pop. With her crystalline voice and warm stage presence, Lee performs Native American, Korean, Chinese, Indian, Filipino, and Russian songs, sounding out her solidarity with the global village.

Joining Soh Young Lee are saxophonist T.K. Blue and Korean Opera (Pansori) singer Oak Joo Moon. Praised for his "personal, clear, and incisive" instrumental voice, T.K. Blue has recorded and performed with legendary artists including Abdullah Ibrahim, Dizzy Gillespie, Regina Carter, and Bobby McFerrin.

Recognized as a prodigy of Pansori, Oak Joo Moon has had a stellar career, including numerous international performances. She is a winner of the Korean Presidential Award (1998) and is the only official recognized National Korean Human Cultural Asset living outside of Korea.

Also featuring Natalia Galebsky (Cello), Keyth Hart (Piano/Voice), and Ann Zarkind (Piano).

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 2012, 4:00 PM
CHARLES B. WANG CENTER THEATRE

Tickets: $35 (VIP) / $20 (General) / $15 (Seniors) / $10 (Students). Discount of 20% for groups of 5 or more.

To reserve, contact
Asian and Asian American Programs at the
Charles B. Wang Center:

Telephone • (631) 632-4400
Email • wangcenter@stonybrook.edu
Web • www.stonybrook.edu/wang

Stony Brook University