M. GERSTEL NAMED ASST. EXEC. VICE PRESIDENT

Sanford M. Gerstel, Budget Director in the Office of the Vice President for Finance and Management for the last three years, was recently appointed Assistant Executive Vice President.

Dr. T.A. Pond, Executive Vice President, said that Mr. Gerstel, in his new position, will be responsible for all University-wide resource planning and utilization operations including long-range planning, facilities planning, institutional studies and facilities utilization.

Dr. Pond said that "since coming to Stony Brook three years ago, Mr. Gerstel has had notable success in establishing effective systems to serve the University's officers in major aspects of financial planning as our Director of Budget. Now, as Assistant Executive Vice President, we look forward to the application of his abilities in overall resource planning and allocation for the University during the years ahead." Prior to coming to Stony Brook in 1970, Mr. Gerstel was associated with the M.W. Kellog Co., an international engineering and construction firm in New York City for 18 years, serving as an Engineering Group Manager, Manager of Budget Control, and Manager of Cost Estimating Methods and Analyses.

He received a B.E. degree in 1952 and an M.B.A. degree in 1957 from the City College of New York, is a registered Professional Engineer and currently is studying for a doctoral degree in economics at Stony Brook. He holds a part-time faculty appointment in the Stony Brook Health Sciences Center where he teaches courses in Hospital Financial Management.

Mr. Gerstel will assume his new duties when the selection process for a new Budget Director, now in its final stages, has been completed.

In Response to the Energy Crisis

BUS LINKS HUNTINGTON AND POINTS EAST TO CAMPUS

As a convenience to the University community and to help alleviate the energy crisis, the University will start an experimental commûter bus run Monday, February 18. The bus will serve students, faculty and staff traveling from the Huntington area to the campus weekday mornings and returning late weekday afternoons. The bus will make several stops along Route 25 in Commack and Smithtown to pick up riders.

For two weeks, the bus run, organized by the Office of General Institutional Services, will be run free as an experiment. Depending on the interest and support received during the trial weeks, a decision will be made on whether to continue the service. If the service is continued, an equitable charge will be established, the rate depending primarily on the number of people using the bus.

The bus is scheduled to arrive at the University at 8:20 a.m., and leave at 5:10 p.m.

The morning run will originate at the Walt Whitman Shopping Center on Route 110 in Huntington. The bus will leave the area between Korvette's and Macy's at 7:20 a.m. It will travel along Route 25, stopping at the southwest corner of the Park Avenue intersection at 7:27 a.m.; in front of Modell's at the Larkfield Road intersection at 7:35 a.m.; in front of the Long Island Arena just off Route 25 on Veteran's Memorial Highway at 7:45 a.m.; and in front of Billy Blake's in Smithtown at 8:05 a.m.

The bus will then travel on Edgewood Avenue to Route 25A to Stony Brook Road, entering the campus at the South Camp parking lot and making stops at the South Campus and Main Campus.

New System Will Limit Use Of Space Heaters During Energy Crisis

A new system that will enable the University to more effectively control the use of space heaters in work areas will go into effect within the next few days.

Recommended by the University's Energy Conservation Committee at one of its recent meetings, the system will involve the use of authorization stickers and warning notices in an attempt to curb the growing number of electrical heaters now being used.

According to Joseph Hamel, Assistant Vice President for Finance and Management and the University's Energy Conservation Officer, requests to employees on the part of the Committee to limit the use of heaters were not effective. As a result, the Committee decided that a more structured system should be tried.

"Most people don't realize that electric space heaters consume so much more energy and are so much more expensive per heat output unit than the University's central steam heating system," said Mr. Hamel.

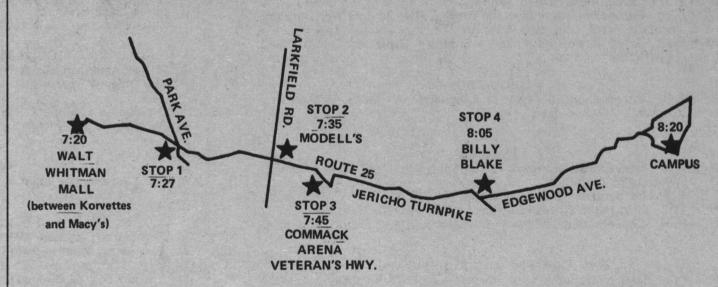

Many work areas throughout the University are not as warm as they were before the energy crisis resulted in the lowering of campus thermostats. "The use of electric heaters in some areas is probably justified," said Mr. Hamel, "and the new system makes provision for this kind of situation."

Essentially, the new system works this way. Any employee who feels the use of a space heater is necessary must justify it to his building manager. Personal health, not comfort, will be the only acceptable reason. Before a heater is authorized, a check of the employee's work area will be made. If the area's temperature is below the accepted national norm for indoor non-residential space-62 degrees-the Physical Plant will be notified. If Physical Plant cannot remedy the problem, the use of the heater will be authorized and the Building Manager will affix a special sticker to the heater.

If heaters without authorization stickers continue to be used, warning notices will be issued. If, after a reasonable period of time, unauthorized heaters are still in use, they will be collected by the cleaning staff.

Neither the Purchasing Department nor the Central Stores Department will issue space heaters without a letter of authorization from a building manager.

Jazz Lab Cuts "Jazz Ed" Albums

The Stony Brook Jazz Lab has been featured on two record albums recently released by Alfred Music Publishing Company. The records are Volumes 4 and 5 of Alfred's Stage Band Recorded Reference Library, a series of recordings used in conjunction with jazz education programs in community colleges and universities throughout the United States.

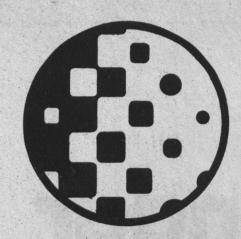

The Jazz Lab, founded two years ago by English professor Jerry Dibble, is sponsored and funded by CED Student Government and makes frequent concert appearances in and around the University community.

The music the Jazz Lab has recorded for Alfred is divided evenly between original compositions and popular hits scored for student musicians by professional arrangers composers. Highlights of the album are on old-fashioned but tongue-in-cheek rag and a piece for jazz orchestra synthesizer. The albums are available through local music dealers or from Alfred Music in Port Washington.
