Honduras Relief

Dear Neighbors,

On September 19 Hurricane Fifi rampaged through the Central American nation of Honduras, killing 8,000 residents, leaving 300,000 homeless and causing damage in excess of one billion dollars. The appeal for help from the Honduran government has prompted a worldwide relief effort. But more help is needed.

The students, faculty, staff and friends of the State University of New York at Stony Brook — especially our close friends in the Three Village area — will join together on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, October 29, 30, and 31, to ease the human crisis in Honduras.

We ask that you contribute to this relief effort by donating food, medicine and clothing. Concerned individuals are asked to donate non-perishable food (preferably canned foods, powdered milk and potatoes, rice, flour, wheat, beans and corn); spring and summer weight clothing; and medicine (preferably water purification tablets, antibiotics, sanitary napkins, aspirin and blood plasma).

Donations may be brought to any one of four collection centers — three on campus and one in Setauket — on the above dates between the hours of 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. The collection centers are located at the Main Desk of the Stony Brook Union, the first floor lobby of the Administration building, in Room 114 of Building C in the South Campus complex, and at the garage of Mrs. Anne Coates, 7 Rising Road, Setauket (off 25A, south on Bennet Road, left on Andrea Street and left on Rising Road).

All donated materials should be boxed.

This is our opportunity as a human community to personally assist the people of another nation in their time of need. Please give something, and pass along our appeal to your neighbors and friends.

Sincerely,

T.A. Pond

Faculty Club and Staff Lounge Set to Open

The gala opening of a Faculty Assembly Club will be celebrated with a reception for faculty and non-teaching professionals on Monday, November 4 between 4:00 and 7:00 p.m. Approximately a month later, a Staff Lounge and Lunch Room is scheduled to open. For the last six months, faculty representatives and officers of the Civil Service Employees Association have worked to establish appropriate lounge and dining facilities for members of the Faculty Assembly and Civil Service Employees Association respectively. The establishment of designated areas where Stony Brook's faculty and staff could meet in an attractive, comfortable setting has been urged for some time, most recently in the campus self-study.

The Faculty Assembly reception will be held in the Club's spacious new headquarters on the second floor of the Graduate Chemistry Building. The area will house the lounge and future dining and cocktail area which are being planned by the Club. The new staff lounge and lunch room for all Civil Service employees is to be located in the present art gallery in the Humanities Building and will open soon after the art gallery moves to its permanent location in the new Fine Arts Building.

Both the Faculty Assembly Club and the Employees Lunchroom will have some 2500 square feet of space in which to set up their facilities. Appropriate furniture for both facilities is on order; it is hoped that the furniture will be here by late November.

Planning for the Faculty Assembly Club, which will be open to members of the faculty and non-teaching professional staff, has been coordinated by Professor Francis Palmer of the Psychology Department, Professor Kurt Lang of the Sociology Department and Assistant Professor Miriam Baker of the English Department, working with a mandate of the Executive Committee of the Faculty Senate. This coordinating group has received considerable encouragement from the administration and from the faculty, especially the Chemistry Department, which has agreed to turn over its present conference area to provide space for use by Club members.

The Club is continuing to actively seek new members. Dr. Lang said the response to the membership appeal thus far has been "encouraging" and that the Club's organizers hope to solicit the membership of half the total number of faculty and non-teaching professionals.

Dr. Lang predicted that the Faculty Club will promote better morale and communication among faculty as well as enhance "the intellectual and social atmosphere of the campus."

Membership in the Faculty Club will range from $20 to $30. Full professors may become members for $30; associate professors, $25; and assistant professors $20. For non-teaching professionals, membership is $30 for those earning over $24,000 a year; $25 for those earning below $24,000 and above $15,000; and $20 for those earning below $15,000.

Initial membership dues will be used to pay for the conversion of the Club headquarters into a dining area and cocktail lounge.

Acting President T.A. Pond has expressed support for these new meeting and dining places. "These soon to be opened facilities hopefully will provide a comfortable, attractive and conveniently located place where campus employees will be able to meet with their colleagues. We are optimistic that both the Faculty Assembly Club and the Staff Lounge and Lunch Room will be well received by our faculty and staff and will provide a place for more personal contact among members of the University community."

Annie Mae Walker Named Equal Opportunity Chairman Prof.

Annie Mae Walker was presented with a bouquet of flowers by Professor of Physics Max Dresden after her induction.

Prof. Annie Mae Walker was inducted as Chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity in a ceremony last Tuesday.

Prof. Walker, who has been an assistant professor of Education at Stony Brook for the past nine years, will preside over the committee which is responsible for coordinating the implementation of the University's equal educational opportunity policy.

Prof. Walker said that she views her major task as "giving vigorous leadership in implementing the mandate of President Toll in regard to equal employment opportunity for women and minorities."

Personnel News

The Office of Personnel has arranged to have Mr. Bruce Smith of the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association, College Retirement Equities Fund, TIAA-CREF, come to the campus on November 8, 1974 to conduct a seminar on retirement. We will meet in the Lecture Hall Room 111, at 12:00 to 2:00 p.m.

Mr. Smith will discuss the TIAA-CREF retirement program and the Tax Deferred Annuity Program.

There will be a question and answer period. Please try and come and avail yourselves of the expert services of Mr. Bruce Smith.

Financial Aid

Contrary to popular belief, Chemistry does encompass more than the gas laws. Professor of Chemistry, Robert Schneider, in his course, "Chemistry and Human Culture," is trying to show how we use chemistry in our daily lives. This week Professor of Physics at Queens College, Maurice Cotter will describe his work as a scientific sleuth in the uncovering of art frauds. Cotter became interested in art frauds through his interest in the proliferation of paintings of a late nineteenth century American artist. Through this interest he became proficient in the detection of frauds and has worked with major New York museums in verifying the authenticity of works of art. Cotter will speak next Thursday, October 31, in the lecture hall of the old Chemistry Building at 7 p.m.

Freshmen and Sophomores! Do you need money for school? Have you applied for BEOG yet? Remember that depending on your financial situation, if you started higher education after April 1, 1973, you could be eligible for financial aid from the Basic Educational Opportunity Grants. Applications are available at the Financial Aids Office, Rm. 250 Administration Bldg.

Indians

Ted and Bill Means, brothers of Wounded Knee Trial defendant Russell Means, and representatives of the American Indian Movement, will speak tomorrow, October 25, between 4 and 6 p.m., in Lecture Center 102. The event, which will also feature a speech by Clyde Bellicort and a presentation of traditional Indian singing and dancing, will be open to all. The theme of the speeches will be the government's policies and attitudes toward the American Indian and the ramifications of the recent Wounded Knee Trial.

The Game Never Ends

Cecilia Grimm, who retired two years ago from her secretarial job in the English department, returns to campus every Thursday to continue the traditional lunch-time bridge game which she and three other Stony Brook secretaries began five years ago.

Grimm originally worked at the Oyster Bay campus and came to Stony Brook in 1962. Rosalie Bergen joined the department in February 1963, the same time that Kay McKenna began working for the Psychology department and Rosemarie Cascardi came to Psych Services. At that time the campus consisted of only a few buildings and the three offices were all located in the Humanities building. The secretaries began to eat lunch together and eventually, since they all were bridge players, began their weekly card game.

Although the women work in different buildings and Grimm has retired they still find time to meet once a week. "We're all for staying in more at lunchtime, save gasoline," is the prevailing sentiment of the group. The women find that going off campus for lunch is time consuming and they usually eat lunch in their respective offices. They "rarely" go to the Union during lunch and have never eaten in the residential cafeterias.

The group meets in the third floor secretary lounge in Social Science B and commented that, "not many people use the lounge for some strange reason." Each woman contributes $.25 per week and when a sufficient sum is collected they go to a restaurant for lunch. They not only play bridge but discuss current news events as well.

The bridge group hopes that others will follow their footsteps and do something more with their lunch time than just munch on a sandwich. However, one member commented that they aren't looking for others to join their game, "We're very exclusive," she said.

The Bridge players met recently, as they have done each week for the last five years. The quartet are, from left to right, Cecilia Grimm, Kay McKenna, Rosalie Bergen and Rosemarie Castaldi.

Unless Otherwise Noted, All Events Are Free and Everyone Is Welcome To Attend.
