COMING EVENTS AT THE UNIVERSITY AT STONY BROOK ■ OCTOBER 1-15, 1989 ■ VOLUME 7, NUMBER 21

Staller Center Launches Tenth Anniversary Season

This is the Staller Center for the Arts' tenth anniversary season of live performances of music, theatre and dance. Details of this season's events could fill a brochure. In fact, it does fill a brochure. Those interested should contact the Staller Center; however, an overview follows:

The Main Stage Music Series opens with Trevor Pinnock and the English Concert, England's leading period chamber orchestra, on Saturday, Oct. 7; followed by The Pirates of Penzance, performed by the New York Gilbert & Sullivan Players, on Saturday, Nov. 11; Soviet émigré pianist Bella Davidovich on Saturday, Dec. 16; the Orpheus Chamber Orchestra on Friday, Feb. 23; and finally the Atlanta Symphony, with Yoel Levi conducting, on Saturday, April 7.

The Orion String Quartet will open the Chamber Music Series on Saturday, Oct. 28; followed by Charles Rosen, pianist, on Wednesday, Nov. 15; the Beaux Arts Trio on Friday, Dec. 8; the Aulos Ensemble, a baroque group, with soprano Julianne Baird, on Saturday, Feb. 17; and the Kronos Quartet on Friday, March 30.

Jazz concerts, presented by the International Art of Jazz, Inc., will include the Billy Taylor Trio on Saturday, Oct. 14; saxophonist/clarinetist Ken Peplowski & Friends on Saturday, Jan. 27; and the Muhal Richard Abrams Quartet on Saturday, Feb. 24.

Claire Bloom will open the Theatrical Series on Saturday, Nov. 4 with Then Let Men Know: A Portrait of Shakespeare's Women; followed by The National Black Touring Circuit performing a musical drama in honor Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., I Have a Dream, on Friday, Feb. 16; and the Kodo Drummers of Japan on Friday, March 2.

The Dance Series opens Friday, Oct. 27 with the Tulsa Ballet's new production of Coppelia. Second is the Oakland Ballet, which will premiere a Najinska work and perform an Americana program featuring "Billy the Kid" on Saturday, March 10; followed by the Toronto Dance Theatre on Saturday, April 21.

Series subscriptions, from $44 to $90, individual tickets for between $16 and $20 and group rates are available by calling 632-7230.

Film Series Involves Campus and Community

A series of seven films from Latin America began September 18 under the auspices of the Humanities Institute. The series, "Film Portraits of Latin America," is co-sponsored by The Village Cinema, which is supported by the Greater Port Jefferson Arts Council and Theatre Three, and features lively discussions by several of USB's prominent Latin American specialists in a community setting.

The upcoming films are:

- "Chuquiago" (Bolivia, 1977), directed by Antonio Eguino. Brooke Larson, associate professor of history, will speak on the significance of the film, Monday, Oct. 2.

- "Hour of the Star" (Brazil, 1985), directed by Suzana Amaral. Coco Fusco, film critic, curator and program officer with the New York Council for the Humanities, will speak on this film, which won several awards and was nominated for an Academy Award, Monday, Oct. 16.

- "Frida" (Mexico, 1984), directed by Paul Leduc. The dramatic story of a celebrated artist, political activist and feminist, Frida Kahlo, is re-enacted in this docudrama, Monday, Oct. 30.

- "Up to a Certain Point" (Cuba, 1983), directed by Tomas Gutierrez. Roman de la Campa, chair of the Department of Hispanic Languages and Literature, will discuss this slyly sardonic comedy about domestic life in Cuba, Monday, Nov. 13.

"Hour of the Star" playing Oct. 16.

- "They Don't Wear Black Tie" (Brazil, 1981), directed by Leon Hirszman. Barbara Weinstein, associate professor of history, will speak on this family drama in which father and son fight on opposite sides of a violent strike, Monday, Nov. 27.

- "Improper Conduct" (France, 1984), written and directed by Nestor Almendros and Orlando Jimenez Leal. This documentary, featuring 28 Cuban exiles around the world, focuses on the oppressive side of the Cuban revolution, Monday, Dec. 11.

Admission to the films is $3 each or $15 for the series. All films begin at 8 p.m. For further information, call the Humanities Institute at 632-7765, Theatre Three at 928-9100, or the Village Cinema, 473-4805.

Leisure Courses Offered at Union Crafts Center

The Union Crafts Center, located on the lower level of the Stony Brook Union, offers a number of courses in leisure, recreation, and basic arts and crafts skills, that are open to students, faculty, staff and the local community. Courses are professionally taught by some of the region's finest artists, craftspeople and leisure educators.

The wide variety of courses offered include: life drawing, photography, cibachrome color printmaking, pottery, clay sculpture, floor loom weaving, basket weaving, stained glass, woodcarving, watercolor, silkscreen, auto mechanics, wine appreciation, bartending, aerobic dancercise and ballroom dancing. The fees for the courses range from $22 to $68 for students, $30 to $85 for non-students, plus materials fees generally under $20.

Memberships allow access to the photography, ceramics or weaving facilities throughout the semester. Membership fees for one semester are $35 to $45 for students, $50 for non-students.

For details about the classes, schedules, fees and memberships call the Union Crafts Center, Monday - Friday, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., at 632-6822 or 632-6828.

Xiaopo Huang

Chinese Journalist Will Speak on Beijing Crisis

Xiaopo Huang, who in her role as Deputy Director of the National Press Club of the People's Republic of China is responsible for managing the media affairs of the Chinese government, will speak on Tuesday, Oct. 10 as part of the University Distinguished Lecture Series.

Her topic, "Beijing In Crisis: A Historical Perspective," will begin at 8 p.m. in the Recital Hall, Staller Center for the Arts. The program is free and open to the public.

Her experience with both the Chinese government and the foreign press gives her a unique vantage point for a discussion of the controversial government responses to student demonstrations. Considered the most authoritative speaker on the subject of contemporary China and the recent political turmoil there, she will be in the United States throughout 1989-90 as a Woodrow Wilson fellow at Princeton University.
